INTENSE HEAT

Is a great trial to those who suffer from weak or impaired eyesight. The additional strain caused by the glare of the sun coupled with the high temperature give irritation and pain. In tropical countries, even those gifted with the strongest sight carefully guard this great gift by wearing colored or smoked glasses—how much more necessary for those whose sight has some little defect to ascertain what that defect is and obtain proper protection for the impaired organ in the shape of correct eye-glasses?

THAW WAS PRINCE OF SPENDTHRIFTS

Made Paris Gasp at Brilliant and Costly Banquet to Actresses.

ONE DINNER COST $50,000

White Was One of the First to Help Evelyn Nesbit Earn a Living.

NEW YORK, July 4.—Harry Thaw, slayer of Stanford White in New York recently, has a record as a spendthrift that few young men, or older men, for that matter, have equaled.

Harry Thaw's family is among the most wealthy people of Pittsburgh. His father was, at the time of his death, a multi-millionaire, who had made his millions out of manufacturing industries. Hundreds of the most valuable acres in and around Pittsburgh belong to the Thaw family, says the Chicago Tribune.

The Thaws are of Quaker origin, and most of the members of the family adhere to the traditional religion of the family.

Harry Thaw has been, since his early youth, the black sheep of the family. When the elder Thaw came to dispose of his millions previous to his death he cut Harry off with $25,000 a year because of his waywardness. Mrs. Thaw later remedied the discrepancy in the young man's financial expectations by making him an equal sharer with the other heirs in the estate, thus insuring him an annual income of $80,000.

Thaw World Renowned Spendthrift

After he came into his patrimony through his mother's generosity Harry Thaw cut a wide swath in certain society circles of Pittsburgh, New York, London and Paris. He was known as a spender before he left Pittsburgh for New York. When he arrived at New York he set himself the task of maintaining his reputation and succeeded beyond even his expectations. Here are a few things he is accredited with doing after his arrival in New York.

He raced a cab down Broadway in the middle of the day when Broadway was crowded from curb to curb. He threw a theatrical performance into a panic by throwing bottles at a soprano who didn't sing to please him. He caused the proprietor to close up a famous night restaurant an hour earlier because he stood on a table and threw $5 bills to all the waiters. He went to the Waldorf one night, sat by himself at a magnificent table, and ordered a $50 dinner. When it was finished he sent for the chef and gave him $25.

One night after the theatre, when he found his cabman asleep, he got astride of the horse and drove the cab and the sleeping cabman through the most brilliantly lighted thoroughfares of New York.

When a woman's eyes pleased him he would send a pair of rubies to match them, or emeralds, or sapphires, as the case might be.

He made it a point never to tip a waiter less than $5, no matter what was served.

Spring Into Fame in Paris

Thaw couldn't spend his money fast enough in New York and so sought a more expensive field for spectacular extravagance in Paris. He succeeded so well in the gay French capital that in a single night he sprang into fame. He gave a dinner in midsummer to about 26 women. It cost $50,000. It was a dinner as the favorite of the Caesars gave, and, like the ones in the time of Catherine of Russia, when a great prince distinguished the most famous beauty in Russia by giving her a dinner after his greatest victory. This prince served liquor glasses of jewels to every woman guest after the dinner. Harry Thaw hung his jewels on a midsummer Christmas tree in the centre of the table.

On this tree he hung a miniature of every woman present. The guests chose their own pictures and found the miniature to be the lid of a small box, which contained a set of jewels. He had found out the favorite jewel of each woman.

He gave a dinner at the famous Restaurant Cabot, which is in the palace of the Countess de Pava built for her by Napoleon III, on the Champs Elysees.

The roses that were used were flawless. Hundreds had been discarded because of some imperfection. One of the small items of expense was the $15,000 he gave Sousa for his band during the evening.

Parisian Beauty by His Side

He made Liane de Pougy the most envied woman in her world by giving her the seat of honor. She at once became famous as the most beautiful woman in Paris. One of her poses is not to wear jewels. This night she wore white with natural violets.

Otero, the dancer, wore the most sensational costume, which also became famous throughout Europe in 24 hours. She wore a cloth of gold gown without a wrinkle, and the sharply pointed tight fitting bouce was made of diamonds and rubies on gold wire.

She wore her double ropes of pearls around her waist, knotted over her hips, and her double ropes of emeralds around her neck.

This $50,000 beauty dinner made Harry Thaw famous in Paris. He had already become famous in London, where Mrs. Arthur Paget was his sponsor, and he spent money as freely as he poured champagne on all that money loving set of Edward VII.

He had already given one dinner of 25 covers for $3,000, but he called that "experimental."

As a Social Lion

From the continent Harry Thaw fitted to Washington, where his mother was entertaining upon an elaborate scale. Here he met the first rebuff in his career—the exclusive Metropolitan club requested his sponsors to withdraw his name for membership. But this didn't keep Harry Thaw from giving round after round of the most costly dinners, chiefest among them a notable function for the British ambassador and Lady Herbert.

New York was next on this remarkable young man's list. The doors of the rich opened wide for him, and in two months he had the entire everywhere. When he started for Paris again he gave a farewell dinner to the 46 persons who had been most hospitable to him during his stay. The guests included the Fishes, Oelrichs, Vanderbilts, Astors, Belmonts and others of the socially regnant families.

Gay Time in Tokio

In was a far cry to Tokio, but what was such a trip to a gay young millionaire but a chance to spend more money! There Prince Komatsu got square for that Paris whirl and Harry Thaw had the time of his life. A g-s-h-a girl dinner under the cherry trees where tea

WILLIAM J. BRYAN THE GUEST OF HONOR

Democratic Possibility Addresses the Banquet of American Club in London.

LONDON, July 4.—William J. Bryan was the central figure at the Independence Day dinner of the American society at the Hotel Cecil tonight. Nearly 500 members and guests cheered patriotic sentiments with zest born of exile. Ambassador Reid and Mr. Bryan engaged in good humored railway over political references. Chairman F. W. Jones proposed the health of King Edward and Hamar Greenwood president of the Canadian society, and a member of parliament for the city of York, proposed the health of President Roosevelt. When they arose to drink to the guests the crowd discovered Mrs. Nicholas Longworth in the gallery and cheered and drank her health. Notwithstanding the passage between Ambassador Reid and Mr. Bryan, the latter spoke. He said in part: "No one questions that Japan's influence has been a beneficent one since she emerged from barbarism and endowed her people with public schools for all her boys and girls. The transition from a position of obscurity into a world power was scarcely more rapid than her transition from a menace into an ally. China is entering upon a similar process and I am sure that an era of reform will make her not a 'yellow peril' but a powerful ally in the international vineyard. The Christian nations must lead the movement for the promotion of peace not only because they are enlisted under the banner of the Prince of Peace, but also because they have obtained such a degree of intelligence that they can no longer take pride in a purely physical victory.

"The belief that moral questions can be settled by the shedding of human blood is a relic of barbarism. To doubt the dynamic power of righteousness is infidelity to truth itself.

"Let me go a step farther and appeal for a clear recognition of the dignity of labor. The odium that rests upon the work of hand has exerted a baneful influence the world over. While Europe and America have advanced far beyond the Orient in placing a proper estimate upon those who work, even our nations have not held a lesson that employment at some useful vocation is essential to the physical health, intellectual advancement, and moral growth.

If America and England are to meet the requirements of their high positions, they must be prepared to present in the lives of their citizens examples, increasing in number of men and women who hold a grade of civility by the hair, and in the other hand is a raised club with which to strike the captives.

Steamer Arctic Will Tempt the Rigors of the Far North.

NIAGARA CONSERVATION

The Pacific and Eastern Railway
Bill Thrown Out by the Commons.

OTTAWA, July 4.—(Special).—The report of the secretary of state for the year ending December 30, shows the total number of naturalizations in the twelve months was over 10,000.

The steamer Arctic with Capt. Bernier in command will sail for Hudson's bay and the far north on Saturday. The Arctic will visit Churchill and Fullerton on Hudson's bay and will afterwards proceed through Hudson's and Davidson's straits to Lancaster sound, and will call at Ponds Inlet, the headquarters of whaling expeditions. Capt. Bernier will collect customs duties and see that the foreign whalers have licenses. The idea is to assert Canadian authority in these distant waters. Major Moody will go north with a supply boat later on and will visit the police posts on Hudson's bay. The government has deemed it wise to separate these two officials.

Grand Trunk Pacific Branches

The senate railway committee this morning passed the G. T. Pacific branch lines bill without amendment.

Hon. Mr. Hyman announced tonight on the recommendation of the international waterways commission no more power franchises will be granted affecting Niagara waters until further report is made by the commission.

The anti-usury bill received its third reading in the Senate tonight after amendment to the powers to strike out the clause exempting from the operation of the act transactions where interest of not more than fifty cents had been rejected.

Pacific & Eastern Bill Killed

To the great surprise of the promoters of the Pacific and Eastern railway a strong lobby had been operating against the bill which made itself manifest at the meeting of the Commons railway committee this morning. The promoter is Sir Henry Pellatt and Hugh Blair, two of the most prominent capitalists in Toronto. R. F. Pearson, Halifax, unofficial leader of the Liberal party in Nova Scotia and J. T. Bethune and E. Tasse of Ottawa. The promoters sought authority to build a railway from Victoria to the northern end of Vancouver island thence to Butte Inlet and via the Yellowhead pass to Edmonton and Prince Albert. The measure had safely passed through all the stages in the upper house when it struck a snag in the Commons. Hon. Mr. Templeman and Mr. Kennedy warmly supported the bill while on the other hand it was just as strongly opposed by Mr. Gallie, the latter of whom stated that it would encroach upon the territory of the V. W. & Y. Although three ministers of the crown voted for the adoption of the preamble the bill was rejected by a vote of 45 to 27. Messrs. MacPherson and Sloan were not present at the division. As the session is now so late the promoters will not attempt to have the bill restored to the order paper this year but will

MASSACRE OF JEWS DELIBERATELY PREPARED

Russian Parliamentary Commission Finds Overwhelming Evidence.

S. T. PETERSBURG, July 4.—A point strongly brought out in parliamentary reports of the massacre of Jews at Bialystok is that there was no religious hatred of the Jews among the peaceful Russian population. The fighting was confined to the police, troops and Black Hundred on one side and the Jews and revolutionists on the other. The parliamentary commission found overwhelming evidence that the outbreak was deliberately prepared. After the assassination of Chief of Police Dorkachoff, proclamations were scattered broadcast by the police among the soldiers and the Black Hundred, charging the Jews with being enemies of the Russian state and responsible for the revolution, and saying the lower house is the Jewish domain. The commission cites proof on every hand that after the rioting was started it was directed by the police and supported by the troops, who fired only at Jews and at Jewish houses. The report does not specially place the blame for the throwing of the original bomb into the procession, although it says that several revolver shots were fired and that a bomb was thrown later among the Black Hundred accompanying the procession.

Preparations for Interesting Yachting
Event at Chicago.

Chicago, July 4.—Reports received today indicate that at least twenty yachts of various sizes will leave here Saturday, July 14, on the race to Mackinac which is to be held under the auspices of the Chicago yacht clubs. Boats from Toronto, Rochester and Detroit are already on their way to Chicago to take part in the race. The first prize is a $1500 Chicago Yacht Club Mackinac cup, which will be given to the boat making the best time allowance, irrespective of rig or size.

WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS JAILED.

Militant London Female Agitators Refuse to Give Bail.

London, July 4.—Miss Kenny and the other women suffragists arrested in Cavendish square June 21, for creating a disturbance outside of the house of Chancellor of the Exchequer Asquith, are proving embarrassing to the magistrate by assisting on martyrdom. The magistrate almost begged them to promise not to repeat their performances before Mr. Asquith's residence, but they all positively refused, and the court finally ordered them to furnish bail in $250 each for good behavior for a year, or in default to serve six weeks' imprisonment. They all elected to go to prison.

IN THE FAR EAST.

Japanese Civil Authorities Assume the Control of Mukden.

Peking, July 4.—The Japanese military authorities on July 1 transferred the control of Mukden, Manchuria, to the Japanese civil administration. The latter are arranging for the withdrawal of military control from other interior cities of Manchuria during July and August. The American consul, Thomas Sanson, has returned to Mukden to conclude arrangements with the Chinese for the opening of Mukden and Antung to foreign trade. In accordance with the terms of the American treaty with Japan in 1903, some of the details of which are yet unsettled, the United States government is pressing for the establishment of custom houses at Port Dany and Antung.

HAPPENINGS OF THE PACIFIC COAST

Ship's Stewart Is Poisoned by Drinking Wood Alcohol at Port Townsend.

PORT TOWNSEND, July 4.—(Special).—Evidence of an attempt at a foul crime which claimed a victim other than the one intended was brought to light this morning, when the steward of the British ship Australia, now lying here, lumber laden from Bellingham for the west coast, awaiting a crew, died from the effects of a potent poison surreptitiously. Captain Hughes, master of the vessel, several days ago when guests were aboard brought out a bottle of Scotch whiskey, but none of the guests partook of the liquid, and the visitors, who were soliciting business for a local pharmacy, immediately pronounced the liquid doctored, giving as his belief that a portion of the original contents had been removed and wood alcohol substituted. Captain Hughes set the bottle aside, intending to have the contents examined as soon as an opportunity offered. He left the vessel early this morning to spend the Fourth of July with friends and fellow shipmasters at Port Gamble, and the steward evidently took advantage of his absence and decided to drink to a toast of American celebration day. Shortly after partaking of the contents of the bottle the man was found dead in his room, while the half emptied bottle gave mute testimony as to the cause of demise. Coroner Lockhart is in charge of the case and will prosecute a vigorous investigation with the hope of locating the guilty person.

Abe Atell Gets Decision

Los Angeles, July 4.—Abe Atell, champion featherweight pugilist of America, got the decision in the 20th round over Frank Nell, bantamweight champion, here today. Atell showed to great advantage, landing six blows to Nell's one. Nell's eye was closed early in the contest, and his face was battered black and blue. Nell's blows when they landed had force. Atell's agile sidestepping his opponent's vicious swings saved him repeatedly. The last two rounds were fought by each man fiercely, and Nell received more blows in those two rounds than in the previous eighteen. The men fought head to head, playing to each other's face. The decision of Referee Eaton was popular.

Direful Result.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 4.—Mrs. Fred Sloan, keeper of a boardinghouse on Lake street, today shot and instantly killed George Clark, aged 35, one of her boarders, in the yard back of her house. The woman admits firing the fatal shot, and maintains that she aimed it at a target which she and Clark and others were shooting at.

Ontario's Decreasing Birth Rate
Gives Rise to Some Plain Talk.

MEDICAL COLLEGE BURNS

Winnipeg Celebrates the Glorious
Fourth in a Fitting Manner.

TORONTO, July 4.—Plain language was used by Dr. C. A. Hodggets, secretary of the provincial board of health, at a meeting of that body yesterday in respect to certain conditions relative to the birth rate of Ontario. He first pointed out the necessity for greater attention being given by the board to drawing the attention of the public to the growing need of more general education as to nursing and care of infants. The same attention given to instruct parents as to how to bring up a baby as is given them in respect to the rearing of young chickens or a thoroughbred calf or other barnyard products, particularly as regards feeding, would be followed by equally good results. The marked increase in the number of still births was commented on and Dr. Hodggets said: "If it were possible to give in statistical form the number of abortions that have occurred in the same period of time, we would have figures which would be somewhat astounding to the general public. Knowing something of what I call the social degeneracy of the present day, it is my opinion that it is time the board directed public attention to the facts and suggested some means whereby the growing evils surrounding the marital relations were brought more prominently before the public and our men and women taught their duties as to the other and both to the state in respect to their offspring."

Suit Dismissed

Montreal, July 4.—A telegram was received today by J. N. Greenhields, K. C., from Donald MacMaster, announcing that the privy council today dismissed the appeal of the heirs of the late E. R. Whitney, of Boston, in the suit brought by Whitney against J. N. Greenhields and John Joyce for $2,000,000 which was one-third of the capital stock of the Shawinigan Water and Power company and third of $100,000 in cash, in virtue of the partnership which he alleged he entered into with Greenhields and Joyce.

Fort William, July 4.—A laborer, while assisting in tearing down the wrecked Oglvie elevator, was seriously if not fatally injured today by 350 pounds weight striking him on the head.

A magnificent new hotel, costing $250,000, will be erected here.

Winnipeg Wireings

Winnipeg, July 4.—Over 6000 Americans and their friends celebrated the Glorious Fourth here today. The weather was ideal and a most enjoyable time was spent. During the afternoon a long programme of sports were contested, some of which created much merriment owing to their novelty. A record crowd sat down to a basket supper. A feature of the events was a magnificent display of fireworks in the evening. General disappointment was felt at the inability of Hon. Mr. Berg, ex-senator, to be present, owing to illness. He was to have delivered an address.

Baptists of northwestern Canada in annual convention today decided on radical and vigorous missionary methods to cope with the situation, but shortage of acceptable men to man fields was deeply regretted. W. T. Underwood of Calgary was elected president.

Deadman's Island Appeal

A special cable says argument proceeding before the judicial committee of the privy council in the attorney general of British Columbia vs. the attorney general of Canada over the ownership of Deadman's island, Sir Robert Findlay Russell, K. C. and Davis, K. C., for the appellants, Sir Edward Carson, E. L. Newcombe K. C., Hon. Frank Russell and Duncan, for respondents. The Lord's Day Bill

Sweeping changes are to be made in the Lord's Day bill. It is said that the Elche amendment is to be recast in favor of a more drastic provision withholding the operation of the bill until approved by legislative enactment of each province. Representatives of the Lord's Day Alliance have been particularly busy around the lobbies tonight, endeavoring to ward off these further changes in the bill.

Essen, Prussia, July 4.—The engagement is announced of Barbara Krupp, the youngest daughter of the late owner of the great iron works, Friedrich Alfred Krupp, to Baron Tito von Wilmowski, son of the governor of Prussian Saxony. Barbara, although by no means so rich as her sister Bertha, is presumably worth twelve million dollars.

Bad Stomach Makes Bad Blood.

You can not make sweet butter in a foul, unclean churn. The stomach serves as a churn in which to agitate, work up and disintegrate our food as it is being digested. If it be weak, sluggish and foul the result will be torpid, sluggish liver and bad, impure blood.

The ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are just such as best serve to correct and cure all such derangements. It is made up without a drop of alcohol in its composition; chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol. Now this glycerine is of itself a valuable medicine, instead of a deleterious agent like alcohol, especially in the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia and the various forms of indigestion. Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says of it:

"In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. It is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs; especially if there is ulceration or catarrh of the stomach, or if the system is generally debilitated, it will relieve many cases of prostrated (heartburn) and excessive gastric acidity. It is useful in chronic indigestion, especially in the flatulent variety, and in certain forms of chronic constipation, stimulating the secretory and excretory functions of the intestinal tract."

When combined, in just the right proportions, with Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Queen's root, Blood-root, and Sassafras root, or the extracts of these, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, there can be no doubt of its great efficacy in the cure of all stomach, liver and intestinal disorders and derangements. These several ingredients have the strongest endorsement in all such cases of such eminent medical leaders as Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia; Prof. Robert A. Hare, M. D., of Medical Department, University of Pennsylvania; Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., Medical Department, University of New York; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Medical College, Philadelphia; Prof. J. M. Scudder, M. D., and Prof. John King, M. D., of the American Dispensary, and scores of others among the leading medical men of our land. Who can doubt the curative virtues of a medicine the ingredients of which have such a professional endorsement?

Constipation cured by Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One or two a dose.

RECEPTION TO MR. BENEDICT BANTLY

Citizens Welcome From Studies
Abroad Popular Young Musician.

PLEASING AFFAIR HELD LAST EVENING

Interesting Address on Art of Music Given by A. E.
McPhillips K.C.

A public reception, under the auspices of St. Andrew's Cathedral choir, was tendered last evening to Mr. Benedict Bantly, who arrived last week from Germany. The receptional concert was held in the Institute hall, View street, before a very fair audience, which was not larger on account of its semi-private nature. Members of St. Andrew's choir had sent out invitations to most of Mr. Bantly's old friends.

A neat programme contributed to by excellent talent, had been arranged, well known singers kindly helping to make the evening a success.

Mr. J. G. Brown gave two songs in his clear baritone voice and was well appreciated. Mrs. D. E. Campbell, Mrs. Johnson and Miss Emma Sell all sang in good form, their efforts being accorded hearty encores. Mr. Frank Sell and Mr. Moxon also helped to make the evening a success.

During an interval in the programme, A. E. McPhillips, K. C., addressed the gathering. His speech traced the history and importance of music from its very inception up to the present date. Mr. McPhillips told in eloquent words of the influence and power wielded by the great art, describing it as perhaps the greatest of all arts. Mr. McPhillips gave several quotations from the leading verses written in praise of music and charmed the audience.

In conclusion he warmly congratulated Mr. Bantly on the splendid success which he had achieved, and stated that it was not a case of where just Mr. Bantly's friends and relatives would feel proud, but that the citizens of Victoria should feel proud to have such a highly-talented musician in the city, and he felt that they would rally around him and give future patronage.

At the conclusion of the programme Mr. Bantly was conducted to the stage, and briefly described his course of studies at college, and concluded with sentiments of gratitude to the people of Victoria.

Mr. McPhillips then introduced Mr. Bantly to individual persons in the audience.

The pleasant evening was much enhanced by the piano selections and accompaniments of Mr. G. J. Burnett, who presided at a Heintzman grand piano, kindly lent for the occasion by Messrs. Fletcher Bros.

Mr. Bantly left Victoria with the intention of a three years' course at the Royal Conservatory of Music situated at Leipzig, Germany. The musical college was founded in 1823 and is recognized as one of the most influential conservatories in the German empire. Leipzig is known all the world over as the greatest musical centre. Several of the most famed piano manufacturers have works at Leipzig. The college is under the direction of Professor Niekisch (a Bohemian gentleman who conducted the famous Boston Symphony for a number of years) and at the present time has more than 1,000 students from all parts of the world. Under the directorship of Professor Niekisch, some of the finest teachers are engaged.

Mr. Bantly's tutor on the violin was Mr. Arno Heif (formerly of the Moscow conservatory), while on the piano he had as teacher, Josef Penz, one of the finest pianists in Germany. He was also thoroughly educated in theoretical music, which included harmony, counterpoint, canon and fugue, his teacher being Professor Gustav Schreck, on all these subjects, Mr. Bantly showed wonderful skill and received high honors. He did not confine himself to plain musical study but also gained experience in orchestral work, serving one season as violinist in Professor Niekisch's orchestra, and towards the close of his studies, he made a public appearance as solo organist, in an orchestra of 40 members and directed by Professor Hans Sitt, who conducts the university orchestra.

Mr. Bantly studied free composition and instrumental composition under Heinrich Zoellner and now has several of his own compositions which he will publish shortly.

Mr. Bantly being a native of Victoria, naturally has an inclination to open up his future here, and is now engaged in looking for suitable studio rooms in the city. He will shortly give lessons on both piano and violin.

It is also Mr. Bantly's intention to organize a first class orchestra in the city, and failing that a musical quartette, he will also give several concerts, particulars of which will be published later.

FOURTH OF JULY RECEPTION.

American Embassy in London Scene of Patriotic Entertainment.

London, July 4.—Three thousand persons, mostly Americans, attended the Fourth of July reception at the American embassy, Dorchester House, which was beautifully decorated with flowers. The lawn was covered with awnings and tents flying the American colors. Ambassador Reid and Mrs. Reid, assisted by Congressman Longworth and Mrs. Longworth, received the guests. Among the ladies present were many Americans who intermarried with the British aristocracy. Refreshments were served in a large marquee in the north garden.

The Finish.—The finish of our Rockingham teapots is perfect, the makers, through long experience, are able to put a perfect glaze and finish to our famous brown teapots. They pour well too. R. A. Brown & Co., 80 Douglas street.

KING TO VISIT NEWCASTLE.

Great Preparations Being Made for Tour Next Week.

London, July 4.—Newcastle-on-Tyne is making great preparations in anticipation of the visit of King Edward next week. It will be the first time in more than a quarter of a century that the sovereign has paid a visit to that city. While in Newcastle the King, who will be accompanied by Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria, will attend the opening of the new wing of the Armstrong College of Science, the opening of a new infirmary built as a memorial of Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee, and the unveiling of her statue in Leazes Park.

THAW WAS PRINCE OF SPENDTHRIFTS

that cost $100 a pound was served, was his coup there. The fairest of the beauties of all Japan came to do him honor and to entertain the guests.

Back to Paris again, and there he was until the cable told the story of his marriage to Evelyn Nesbit.

Evelyn Nesbit appeared on the scene. Her career already had been "made" before she met Thaw.

Beginning to work for her living when she was 14 in the photographic studios of Philadelphia, she sat one day for a photograph. It was sent to a photographic exhibition and made a "hit."

"Who is this beauty?" people asked. A New York painter hunted her up and soon she became noted as the model in the studios of such men as Christy, Church, Ervin Wiles and Wells Champney, all because one picture had made her famous.

Theatrical managers persuaded her to lend her much heralded beauty to comic opera. She left the studios and went into the chorus. Here the world had a chance to see how beautiful she was.

Harry Thaw, the Pittsburgh multimillionaire, an eccentric spender of money, saw the fascinating chorus girl in his native city and fell in love with her.

Weds Evelyn Nesbit

Then unexpectedly came the cable announcement of their marriage. They registered and stopped at the Carlton hotel in London as man and wife, and the report of their marriage was generally believed.

When they returned to the United States, however, they had a stormy experience in New York. On their arrival they discovered that Mrs. William Thaw, mother of Harry, had announced that under no conditions would she accept Evelyn Nesbit for a daughter-in-law, and that if her son had really married the beautiful young model she would promptly disown him.

Harry didn't want to lose his fortune, and it is probable that the girl, who is now the wife, didn't desire to see him impoverished either. So they faced the dilemma. Fear of the wrath of the mother forced them to deny that the union had been consummated, yet at the same time they were together at the Cumberland hotel, and the proprietor demanded that either Thaw write "wife" after his name on the register or quit the hotel.

Thaw chose the latter alternative. Miss Nesbit, as she insisted on being called, went to a boarding house, and the young millionaire made efforts to placate his mother. He was successful, but not until an open rumor said that Miss Nesbit had refused an offer of $250,000 in cash to quit the United States and leave the Thaws in peace.

Career of Evelyn Nesbit

She was the daughter of W. Scott Nesbit, a lawyer, and until she was 12 lived in the simple fashion of the American middle class family. She went to the public schools, and was just an average everyday pupil, attracting no attention for either special brightness or for dullness.

At 15 the wonderful regularity of her features and her striking brunette coloring already had begun to challenge attention on the streets of Pittsburgh.

When W. Scott Nesbit died his widow kept a lodging house in Allegheny City. Later she moved to New York. The family income was not enough for their needs, and the girl became a model. She attracted the attention of Stanford White, the famous New York architect, who was first charmed by her lovely lines of face, and he called on several theatrical managers, and asked for their interest to help the little girl to succeed. She wanted to earn money, and she had been advised to go on the stage.

First Charms Harry Thaw

It was when Miss Nesbit was seeking a theatrical engagement that her mother said to a manager:

"You have no idea how that child is annoyed by the attentions of men, especially of a man named Thaw. Why, the other day the porter came to the door and said there was a Stollway grand piano in the back yard waiting to be unloaded. He said: 'It's from Mr. Harry Thaw, mum, for Miss Evelyn Nesbit. Here's the card.' I ordered that piano back to the factory. He sent her two dozen pairs of the finest silk stockings ever made, and we sent them back."

During her engagement with "The Wild Rose" Mr. Thaw's attentions were welcome at that time, continued.

Then someone took Evelyn Nesbit from the stage and sent her to a fashionable school for girls at Pompton, N. J. Here she became popular with the girl students until it became known that she was estranged and practically driven from the school.

In 1903 she resumed her work as a model. It may be stated here that she posed only for the face and head—never in the nude or even semi-nude.

Again she entered stardom and for a second time played in "The Wild Rose" company. After this she went to Europe with her mother and apparently Harry Thaw was on the other side at the same time. While abroad she and her mother quarreled. Mrs. Nesbit said that at last her daughter was according the attentions of "that odious man Thaw," and that she was done with her forever. Mrs. Nesbit returned to Pittsburgh and married again, and her daughter remained abroad, traveling with Harry K. Thaw, and, she alleges, a woman companion.

Says She Was Afraid

A year later Evelyn Nesbit returned to New York alone.

"Harry Thaw has all my jewels," she said to an intimate friend. "He took them from me because he was afraid I was going to leave him. I left him because I was afraid of him. Certain women came to me in Paris and told me of his cruelty. They said he beat them with whips. One day he said to me: 'Have you ever been whipped?' I told him I had not. He said: 'You ought to be whipped,' and I was frightened and came home."

Friends secured an engagement for her with "The Girl from Dixie," but she remained only a few weeks with the company. Thaw had followed her to this country and persuaded her to return to Europe with him.

Thaw today treats his fellow male prisoners at the Tombs to ice cream and cake, buying 46 quarts of ice cream and 30 dozen cakes. Thaw's wife was not permitted to visit him today as the rules exclude prisoners on holidays.

AN INEXPLICABLE ATTITUDE.

There has been a great deal of comment in respect to the attitude taken by Dr. Monro, Dominion Immigration Inspector, at Vancouver, who endeavored to prevent the landing of Brother under arrest on a charge of forgery. It is unnecessary to recount the circumstances which preceded the return of Brother from the United States, whether he had gone after his release from the British Columbia penitentiary. They are familiar to all readers. Through the efforts of the Provincial government he was brought back and it was proposed to deliver him over to the Vancouver authorities. The immigration inspector there interposed and refused permission for Brother to land. He threatened the captain of the Ramona with a fine of $1,000 if he permitted Brother to go ashore. Whereupon Supt. Hussey asserted his authority, arrested Brother, and brought him ashore, claiming, of course, that as the ship was tied up to the dock she was under provincial jurisdiction. The captain was clearly between the devil and the deep sea, but wisely decided that the provincial authorities were in supreme control of the situation. Dr. Monro's reasons for his actions are remarkable, to say the least. Taking the Vancouver World's account of it, to a reporter he said:

"Yes, I have refused permission for Brother to land. I am acting under section 24 of chapter 25, which allows for the refusal of the landing of criminal persons and the keeping of them on board the ship by which they came until it departs again."

The clause in question, as printed, deals with arrivals from European ports, but Dr. Monro explained that there was an amendment that made it apply to arrivals from any port.

Dr. Monro further said: "I am chief immigration inspector here as well as medical officer. It is as inspector I am acting. This man is a vile and undesirable character. Canada was well rid of him and I do not think he should be let back into Canada. I have warned the captain of the Ramona that he must not be allowed ashore. I have had no specific instructions regarding Brother. I am acting under my general instructions, under which I am supposed to exercise vigilance in keeping out undesirable characters. Brother is certainly one of them."

Looking at it from a layman's point of view, Dr. Monro's position is inexplicable. If his reasoning be correct then it would become quite impossible for any extradited criminal to be landed in Canada for trial. All criminals are undesirable persons within the meaning of section 24, chapter 25, as interpreted by Dr. Monro. In the case of a man brought back on the charge of murder, the ends of justice might be defeated by the immigration officer refusing permission for his landing on Canadian soil. The worse the crime the more undesirable would the criminal become, and consequently the stronger would the reason be for keeping him out of the country. Now, the criminal in nine hundred and ninety-nine cases out of a thousand would be only too glad to be dealt with in this way.

Dr. Monro says that he was not acting under specific instructions, only general instructions, in the matter. Of course, we must accept his statement to that effect, but the circumstances are such as to excite suspicion and we very much doubt if the Dominion authorities will take the responsibility of upholding him in the position he has assumed. Whether directly or indirectly there has been collusion, so to speak, between the immigration officer and the authorities at Ottawa, public sentiment will not support the attempt to aid and abet the outrage that was perpetrated when Brother was released from custody five years before his sentence had expired.

The Columbian, of New Westminster, commenting on the situation, says:

"The official of the Dominion government who sought to prevent the landing over to justice of the notorious Brother, ought to receive attention from the public. The Vancouver World, a paper supporting the government concerned, states that there were, on the steamer by which Brother was brought to Vancouver, a number of persons easily recognizable as of loose moral character, but that they were given the freedom of the port while the extraordinary vigilance of the officer of the law was directed to keeping out the only man on board who was being brought back to Canada in the name of the law and at the expense of the public."

Even if this man could have been kept out, if he came of his own volition, the case was entirely different when he appeared in the custody of the police. The facts that he had been smuggled out of the country at the instance of the Ottawa government, and that an official of that government was found setting up an obstacle to his return form an awkward complication. There is a heavy reckoning to settle with Ottawa in this Brother matter, and the score is not lessened by the display of zeal on the part of the health officer at Vancouver, whose view of the law would give to fugitives from justice the protection that the extradition agreements deny to them."

And the Vancouver Province remarks:

"It is incredible that a good citizen such as Dr. Monro is would have displayed such zeal in the matter had he not had distinct orders from headquarters. Despite all denials, the people here will retain the conviction that the government which pardoned Brother for the crimes of which he was found guilty is striving to prevent his guilt being established on charges of which he is accused and that the same malicious influences which were successful formerly are now being exercised in his behalf. We imagine, however, that the government and people of British Columbia will be resolute that those influences shall not triumph a second time. They will insist, we hope, that this man shall be tried for the crimes of which he is accused, and if convicted shall pay the full penalty of his misdeeds. We believe, too, that if in defiance of all justice the federal government shall again pardon him the authorities of this province will refuse to allow his release and will place upon the administration at Ottawa the responsibility of carrying into effect an order by which we refuse to abide."

"THE MAPLE LEAF."

Apocryphal of the remarks of the Colonist yesterday, the Toronto News says of the death of Alexander Muir that there will be mourning in many homes in Canada. He was not a great statesman, nor an eminent publicist, he was not even a Captain of Industry. His profession was school-teaching, but his name had gone over all the earth. "The Maple Leaf," now regarded as Canada's National Anthem, was written and composed by Mr. Muir, and it was this song which brought him fame. Literary critics have jested at the quality of the verse, experts in music have shaken their heads at the melody, yet both verse and melody arrested popular attention because of the clear, pure flames of patriotism which arose from the song. Mr. Muir meant what he wrote, and it was this inner earnestness, this intangible fervency of feeling which made "The Maple Leaf" immortal. It is played by the Guards band in London, its shrill chorus vied with the screeching shell and the rattling maxim on the fields of South Africa, children in every Canadian school sing it with delight. Indeed, it has been one of the influences which have made for national spirit, while still maintaining love and admiration for the Mother Land and her achievements. Mr. Muir was a public benefactor. Seldom, indeed, in these days of hurry and utilitarianism, does a singer of songs merit and receive such a title.

If Mrs. Drowsovitch were in Russia she would make a useful member of society there in stirring up trouble.

"Wild Life in Woods and Waters" for July is mainly devoted to local athletic sports.

The Argonauts were defeated yesterday at Henley. The race was so close, however, that defeat was all but as glorious as victory.

The Liberal newspapers are bound to bring on the general provincial elections within the next two or three months. For peace sake it might be just as well to let them continue in that frame of mind.

President Roosevelt said, concerning the Meat-inspection Bill: "I care not a whit for the language of the amendment. What I am concerned with is to have it accomplish the object I have in view." And this sentiment the Brooklyn Eagle reflects when it contends that the success of the law depends upon the administration rather than upon the form of enactment.

Montreal Gazette: A comparison of the vote cast in the recent Nova Scotia general elections shows that while the Conservatives elected only three more members than they had in the last house, they made important gains in five out of every six counties in the province. A little better organization in half a dozen counties would have given the government a close run for power. Nova Scotia Conservatives should be cheered by the result into renewed activity.

William Hendrie, of Hamilton, is dead. He was a man of large interests, and was for many years associated with railway building in western Ontario, and had numerous contracts of various kinds. Coming to Canada at 23, he obtained a position as freight clerk in the Great Western railway office in Hamilton. In the following year he entered into partnership with John Sheddin, and started what was known as the Hendrie-Sheddin cartage system, which for a long time did all the freighting for the Grand Trunk railway, and was successful from the start. Mr. Hendrie was a keen sportsman, and a large benefactor of useful institutions. He was a Conservative in politics, and refused the offer of a seat in the Senate. He was one of Canada's most useful and honorable citizens.

The Cape to Cairo railway has reached Broken Hill. This point is 374 miles from the Victoria Falls, and 2,016 miles from Cape Town, and its completion constitutes a further step towards the fulfillment of Mr. Rhodes' great scheme. The rails reached Kalomo, 93 miles north of the falls, on the 29th May, 1905, since which date rapid progress has been made. On 1st July, 1905, the further extension was commenced, and the 281 miles from Kalomo to Broken Hill were constructed in 346 days. On 99 days, however, no platelaying was done, so that the rails were actually laid at the rate of over a mile a day. On the 26th of September last 334 miles were laid between daylight and dark, constituting a record for rapid platelaying in South Africa—the last 56 miles were laid in 72 days, and the last 65 in 42 days. There are seven bridges of over 50 feet span, and the Kafue River bridge is 1,200 feet in length. 3,000 to 5,000 natives were constantly employed and about 350 whites.

The shooting of White by Thaw in New York, has suggested the killing of Jim Fisk by Edwin Stokes back in 1872. On account of the prominence in financial circles of the participants the latter tragically created an immense amount of interest. There are not many points in common between the two tragedies, but in both cases the men concerned were famous in the annals of the town, and a woman was at the bottom of the trouble in both instances. Both women were more or less notorious. Josie Mansfield was the heroine of the Fisk-Stokes affair, and with her the principals were desperately in love. Fisk is said to have been the only man for whom Joy Gould ever displayed any feeling of interest, and he actually wept over his death. Stokes was tried and sentenced to death. He obtained a new trial, however, and got free on the ground that he had shot Fisk in self-defence. He died only a few years ago. Josie Mansfield went to Paris. Nineteen years later she married a rich young man named Read. Later they separated, and seven years ago the woman was stricken with paralysis. Now she, too, is dead.

MORE ON SUNDAY OBSERVANCE.

Sir—It is an admitted fact that the present efforts to put in operation the law compelling the most puritanical observance of Sunday is the work of the Lord's Day Alliance, a body composed of ultra-fanatical clergy and lawyers—those who know its members will vouch for this. Naturally the clerical bodies as a whole back them up in their actions—they dare not do otherwise, no matter to what extent their zeal leads them, and, more than this, clericals, like all other classes are (consciously or unconsciously) governed by their economic necessities, and they naturally hope that by a strict enforcement of Sunday, the church attendance will be increased and the tithes increased. This may seem to be a hard way of viewing these matters, but facts are facts, and the black coat only incloses a certain like tithes of us.

That the training of the average clergyman unfits him to be an impartial judge on these matters is proved by the following:

Some Frank Criticism on the Way Ministers Are Trained.

Many have asked why, since the clerical calling can be made one of the noblest on earth, so its strongest advocates are not attracted to it. The answer, suggests the New York Evening Post, is to be found in "the lack of a clear and honest attitude between the old creeds and the new knowledge." This negative has been expressed, in remarkably direct and vigorous phrases, by President William De Witt Hyde, of Bowdoin college (Congregationalist), before more than two hundred ministers at the recent banquet of the alumni of Union Theological seminary. His speech was a protest against the traditionalism of modern theological education, a traditionalism which can attract only such students as "have never lost a bit of original thinking or independent action in their lives." The result, says President Hyde, is to turn out clerical men who "can comfort a few sick devils, but who are otherwise weak, and whose views are weaker than themselves, and that is expressed, in remarkably direct and vigorous phrases, by President William De Witt Hyde, of Bowdoin college (Congregationalist), before more than two hundred ministers at the recent banquet of the alumni of Union Theological seminary. ## Local News

Amherst school shoes have double tips.

Mr. Palmer's Tour.—R. M. Palmer, secretary of the bureau of information, has left for Douglas Lake and Nicola. He will be absent a couple of weeks.

Meeting of Council.—A special meeting of the city council will be held this evening for the purpose of dealing with the assessment bylaw and several other minor matters. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock.

Presented to Library.—Prints of the interesting photographs of early Carib scenes which Col. Prior took while visiting that district recently have been presented to the legislative library by that gentleman.

Dr. Harris Arrives.—Dr. C. L. M. Harris of the Hamilton Conservatory of Music is here, examining candidates in the interest of the Toronto University. While here Mr. and Mrs. Harris will meet at the A. O. U. W. Hall at 10:15 prompt.

Annual Parade.—On Sunday morning next the combined lodges of the Sons of England and Orangemen will hold their annual parade to the First Presbyterian Church, where a suitable sermon will be preached by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Campbell. The Sons of England will meet at the A. O. U. W. Hall at 10:15 prompt.

Edmonton to Dawson.—Yesterday the detachment of Northwest Mounted Police who are beating a direct trail from Edmonton to Dawson was heard from. The party is well on its journey through British Columbia, having reached Halfway River. Before snow flies the trail will be blazed over Laurier Pass, and the detachment will winter at Fort Graham, on Findlay River.

Lodge Installations.—Tomorrow evening Far West Lodge, K. of P., will install their officers for the ensuing term. The Knights are talking about having a picnic at the Gorge in the near future. A joint installation of the officers of Victoria, Columbia and Dominion lodges, I. O. O. F., will be held the same evening. Frank Taylor, D. D. G. M., will conduct the installation ceremony, assisted by an efficient staff of grand officers.

Protestant Orphans' Home.—A general meeting of the subscribers to the Protestant Orphans' Home will be held in the city council chamber on Tuesday, the 10th instant, at 4:30 o'clock. The meeting will be for the purpose of electing a new board of directors and special attention is drawn to the fact that subscribers who have paid their regular yearly subscription of $2.50 are entitled to attend and vote.

Last Rites.—There was a very large attendance of relatives and sympathizing friends at the funeral of the late Mrs. Selma Amella Baker, which took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence, 133 Johnson street, at 2:30 o'clock. Services were conducted by Rev. W. W. Gladstone at the residence and grave. The many beautiful floral offerings testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held. The following acted as pallbearers: W. J. Wriglesworth, F. L. Smith, R. Chadwick, R. A. Arnold, C. H. Satterfield, A. Randolph.

The Popular Gorge.—During the past few days the Gorge park has been the visiting point for a large number of strangers to the city, as well as to the local citizens. The warm spell has been the cause of driving many out of town in search of a cool spot, and the Gorge has not been overlooked. Every afternoon and well on into the evening the visitors to the park have remained. No matter how warm it was in the city, was not so warm as the Gorge. The shade of the trees, with book, enjoying the cool spot, while many others took advantage of the opportunity to enjoy the pleasure of a swim. The last few days have been strenuous ones for the bath houses, and both have done a fairly good business.

High School Exams.—The annual teachers' examination is still in progress at the Victoria High school and will be continued for several days. In all there are 67 candidates taking the examination, the majority of whom are from the local High School, while a few teachers from outside points are taking the examination in order to qualify for the province. The session yesterday was concluded early in the evening and they will assemble again this morning, when they will be examined in algebra in all three grades—junior, intermediate and senior. In the afternoon there will be no examination for the senior grades, but the juniors will be examined in botany and physiology, and the intermediates in botany. Several other subjects have yet to be written on, and it is not likely that the results will be known until the middle of next month.

New Sanitary Barns.—The new sanitary barn plans devised by F. M. Logan, B. S. A., of the provincial agricultural department, are already causing considerable interest among agriculturists and will soon be adopted, not only by the best farmers here, but probably in various other parts of the empire. Yesterday Sir Arthur Stepany of London, Eng., called on the agricultural department and asked to be shown the plans sent to the mayor of his estate in England. Sir Arthur is also having the improved buildings installed on his large ranch at Enderby. H. Davidson of Langley also intends building on the improved method and writes to the effect that he intended building the old-fashioned kind, but finds that he can have the best and latest buildings at 30 per cent less cost.

Comparison of Packing House
Conditions in Dominion and Chicago.

AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS MADE

A Great Difference in Method of Treatment of Their Employees.

A recent issue of the Canadian Grocer continues a comparison of packing house conditions in Canada and Chicago under the caption "No Scandal in Canada." It reads:

Are Chicago packing house methods and conditions duplicated in Canada? Since the nauseating disclosures were made under the strenuous auspices of President Roosevelt, there has not been time to prosecute a thorough investigation, but the representative of the Canadian Grocer spent four hours on Tuesday inspecting the "Toronto" packing house of the Wm. Davies company, the largest producers of hog products in the British Empire. If that packing house could be turned inside out and exhibited to the view of the United Kingdom it would be the best possible assurance to the British consumers that American uncleanness is foreign to the Canadian packing business. That can't be done here, and for the present some comparisons must suffice.

The charges against the American industry fall under three heads—the corruption and inefficiency of government inspection, the unsanitary condition of the packing houses and degradation of employees, and the use of putrid meat in the canned goods and prepared meat department.

The Official Statement
The partial report by the president's commissioners sent to congress on Monday, deals principally with the second indictment. Following is a brief summary of the findings of Messrs. Reynolds and Neill:

"The yards are mostly paved with brick, laid with deep grooves between, which inevitably fill with manure and refuse. Such pavement cannot be properly cleaned and is slimy and malodorous when wet, yielding clouds of ill-smelling dust when dry.

"Workrooms are poorly lighted, in most of them artificial light being always needed. Many inside rooms where food is prepared are without windows, and may be described as vaults.

"Systematic ventilation was not found anywhere. In a few cases electric fans were used, but usually the workers toil without relief in a humid atmosphere heavy with the odors of rotten wood, decayed meats, stinking offal and entrails.

The Work Tables
The work tables, upon which meat is handled, meat racks, and meat conveyors, are of wood, in nearly all cases inadequately cleaned, and grease and meat scraps were found adhering to them, even after being washed and returned to service.

"Sanitary conveniences for both men and women are made by cutting off a section of the workroom by a thin wooden partition, rising to within a few feet of the ceiling, usually without proper ventilation. These rooms are sometimes used as cloak rooms, and often lunch rooms, similarly constructed, adjoint the privies.

"The worst feature of all was the frequent absence of washing sinks, soap, towels and toilet paper.

"New buildings have the same defects as old ones.

"The handling of meats for prepared food products is filthy and apparently without any pretensions to cleanliness. The men's clothes and aprons are unspeakably dirty, and no attempt is made to keep the meat from contact with them.

"Old canned meats are heated to live them up and re-labeled, labels bearing the statement that the contents have been 'government inspected.'

"The unsanitary conditions in which the laborers work and the feverish pace which they are forced to maintain inevitably affect their health. Diseases, such as tuberculosis, are disproportionately prevalent in the stockyards, and the victims of this disease expectorate on the spongy wooden floors of the dark workrooms, from which falling scraps of meat are later shoveled up to be converted into food products.

"Toilet rooms open directly into workrooms, and those for men and women frequently adjoin.

"Rest rooms for women were rare exceptions.

"No meal time provision is made for the men. In summer their lunches are eaten on the street; in winter or bad weather in the workrooms.

"The neglect on the part of their employers to recognize or provide for the requirements of cleanliness and decency of the employees must have an influence that cannot be exaggerated in lowering the morals and discouraging cleanliness on the part of the workers employed in the packing houses."

The Canadian Factory
Consider now the Canadian packing house visited by the representative of The Canadian Grocer. The condition of the plant and treatment of employees stand out in the most vivid contrast to the above record of wrongs. Following the same order, the yards are constructed of wood, with wooden floors and roofed and well drained. After a pen is emptied it is always cleaned before it is re-filled.

The interior of the packing is fitted with wood, but every department is cleaned after the day's work, and at least once a week there is a thorough going over. The killing pen is floored and walled with concrete, and after each day's work a few minutes' hosing removes all marks of the slaughter.

Ventilated and Lighted
Every workroom in the building is thoroughly ventilated and all except the curing cellars and some of the cold storage rooms and pantries are well lighted by windows. The apartment where the killing and dressing go on is not an appetizing place, but it is very light and airy. No one could slip on the greasy and hard tanks because they are covered, having a hole just large enough to admit material.

The adjoining room where the hogs tarry for a natural cooling and sorting and cutting is done, is a very large, bright and airy apartment, with clean sawdust on the floors and whitewashed upperworks. In cleanliness it would compare favorably with the best butcher shops in the city.

The meat tables and conveyors in the primary stages are of wood, but thoroughly scoured. In the sausage and pie rooms the tables are marble topped.

Treatment of Employees
The two systems contrast even more strongly in regard to the treatment of employees. At the Toronto plant there has been erected, solely for the use of the men, a large three-story brick building. On the ground floor are bicycle racks, and modern lavatories. The next floor, comprising one big room, is furnished with tables and benches. It is the lunchroom for non-smokers. The room above is similarly fitted with the addition of spitoons for smokers.

In these rooms the men leave their lunches in the morning, knowing they are perfectly safe. An old pensioner of the firm is employed constantly as caretaker, and at noon he supplies the men with tea or coffee. There are comparatively few women employees, but the few there are provided for.

Substantial Bonus
The company appropriates each year a bonus in which each employee of six months or over participates. To benefit to the full extent an employee must be in the service two years. A foreman of one of the departments has had for his bonus of his annual bonus. It is only fair to state in passing that throughout the factory the employees are a superior type of working men. There is a well equipped rest station, with three nicely decorated and furnished bedrooms. The members of the fire company get their rooms free and an extra dollar a week. In one of the rooms was a book shelf with a Bible and a vase or two of flowers and a plant—not a trashy one among them. That illustrates as well as anything could the type of man.

So much for the comparison.
There is no government inspection of slaughtered animals in Canada beyond the casual municipal inspection in the larger places. The manager of the Davies company, Dr. Smale, speaking at the Canadian Grocer representative, said they did not believe there was any cholera or trichina among Canadian hogs. The rule they worked by was that what was not good enough for their own tables was not good enough to sell, and the assistant manager, Mr. Van Beaver, who accompanied The Canadian Grocer representative through the factory, declared he would eat anything turned out by the company except fat.

Dr. Smale stated that he considered their packing house a fair average of what was to be found in Canada.
Garden Fete.—A garden fete will be held by the ladies of the Emergency Club at Oak Bay on July 10, from 3 to 10 p.m., in the grounds of Mrs. Rattenbury. The gardens run down to the sea beach and there are many delightful shady nooks under the trees and ideal places to spend an afternoon and evening while listening to the band, which will be in attendance. There will be many amusements also to help to make the time pass pleasantly. A nigger minstrel troupe of twelve vocalists will sing in the wood close to the house. There will also be an archery contest and in the afternoon a sale of work, the various booths and ice cream grotto all being prettily arranged among the trees, as well as an afternoon tea and refreshment pavilion. In the evening the grounds will be lighted up with electric light donated by the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, and the various boats along the waterfront will be decorated with colored lanterns, and a moonlight night also has been promised. The proceeds will be donated to charity. Over 400 tickets have been sold, and it is hoped as many more will attend.

PRINCETON A BUSY INTERIOR POINT

Another Milestone Reached in March of Progress Overtaken Similkameen.

"Another milestone has been reached in the march of progress which has overtaken Princeton," says the Similkameen Star. "The final location of the V. V. & E. through the town and extensive improvements planned by the Vermilion Forks Co. are the most important features in the struggling life and history of the town that have yet been noted. All developments of the town and tributary country hinged upon the railway. And, but for the delay in its construction caused by jockeying politicians and jealous monopolistic influence Princeton is only today where she should have stood five years ago in relation to the railway. However, the days of repining and deferred hope are ended, and the rising day star of prosperity looms brightly on the horizon. Action must now take the place of lethargy and the hum of business must again echo through the streets of the once deserted village.

The line of railway crosses the Similkameen river near the bridge and continues about 200 feet from the bank to near Vermilion avenue and then follows the river more closely to the point where the tunnel through J. Gullford's farm will connect with the Tula-moen river. Four hundred feet of right-of-way for side tracks and station were given by the Vermilion Forks Co. The station will likely be located in rear of the schoolhouse. The railway bridge will be about the same height as the one now in use.

The Vermilion Forks Co. accepted the lowest tender of Snowden & McMullen for a shaft to be sunk back about 500 feet from the present tunnel mouth of their coal mine, near which a railway spur line has been surveyed. The company expects to be able to supply the demands of the railway when it reaches Princeton.

An Assay Office

"The necessity for an assay office in Princeton has been keenly felt since the time when C. B. Harris succumbed to the allurements of the farm and retired on a life competence after having served the camp well and truly for a couple of years. Now, after a lapse of some years, a thoroughly equipped office will be opened by Lewislyn C. Wynne, of the firm of Claude & Wynne, Rossland. This firm, formed a year ago, have won the confidence of the mining public in the Kootenays. In reaching out to Princeton for business they do so because of the inviting field which the railroad will soon develop and the real need of an assay office in that developing town. Mr. Wynne holds a provincial certificate of qualification as a chemist and has been assayer for the Le Roi Mining Co. and two years with the Canadian Ore Concentration Co. (Elmore ore process). He is also a practical miner, having attended mining school in Cornwall, Eng., and in Montana, worked underground, and has also had experience examining in South Africa. The office will open in about a month.

Princeton Notes
Street improvements are to be carried on vigorously throughout the town, a beginning having been already made on Vermilion avenue. Water works will also be begun as soon as definite instructions can be received from the head office of the Vermilion Forks Co. The contract for building the V. V. & E. from Keremeos to Princeton has been let to Stewart & Welch, who are arranging with sub-contractors to build the lighter portions.

A. Hogeland, chief engineer of the Great Northern, and J. H. Kennedy were in town Tuesday. They ordered a spur line to be surveyed from near Otter Flat to the Bear Creek mines, which is now being done by Mr. Amburn's party.

The C. P. R. will open the Nicola branch for traffic on the 1st of July. A semi-weekly mail to Princeton from Coutlee is being applied for.

Charlie Willardson and Peter Johnson have completed assessment work on the Brooklyn, Lela and Kew West on the Brooklyn mountain, all of which are showing up fine ores. The Brooklyn has a large and well defined lead and will undoubtedly make a winner.

C. W. Staples, part owner of the Reco mineral claim in Combination camp, has completed some development work on the property. He ran a cross-cut tunnel 35 feet in length and succeeded in showing at least 10 feet of good copper ore, besides considerable ledge matter, and also struck a vein from four to five feet of fine ore on the surface in different places. The Reco has given good values as high as $15 and is undoubtedly a valuable property.

E. Barr Hall has ordered instruments for a private telephone line to

Free Treatment for Sick Kidneys

WRITE FOR GIN PILLS

If you have suffered for years with kidney trouble—if you know your kidneys are sick, but have not been able to find anything that will help you—or if you suspect that you have kidney disease, write for a sample of GIN PILLS, the pills that cure. We don't ask you to spend a single penny, we promise to send you a sample box free of charge. We leave it to you whether or not you will take any more after the sample box is gone.

RAT PORTAGE, October, 1905
I was troubled for about two years with kidney trouble, common among railway men. I doctored in the regular way and took a great deal of medicine, but received no benefit. My friend recommended GIN PILLS, and I am pleased to state that after taking them I got relief, and while I am not taking them regularly, I feel any indications of a return of the trouble, a few doses puts me all right again.

CHAS. SIMMONS, C.P.R. Engineer.
This letter is the experience of hundreds. They try doctors and drugs without relief, but they find the cure for their trouble in GIN PILLS. Take advantage of our generous offer. Mention in what paper you saw this, with your name and address, and we will send you, absolutely free of charge, a sample box of GIN PILLS. They are sold by all druggists at 50c a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50.

INTERESTING EXPERIMENT.

Likely to Be Far-Reaching in Dealing With Silver-Lead Ores

Nelson, B. C., July 3.—An interesting experiment, whose consequences are likely to be far reaching in the dealing with Silver-Lead ores, has just been carried to a successful conclusion by Captain Tretheway, general manager of the La Plata mine, about 20 miles from this city. Having to deal with an ore running about 15 to 17 ounces silver, two per cent lead and a slight percentage of zinc, the latter as a rule well under ten per cent, over which it is penalized by the smelter, Captain Tretheway installed a concentrator, worked by water power, of which there is plenty contiguous to the mine. In this the ore is passed through trommels to six jigs, from two to five compartments after having gone through once crushed. The clean ore is recovered at once, a large portion of the waste being here eliminated, the middlings go back to a second crusher and stamps and is then passed through four hydraulic classifiers through settling tanks and then to three overstrom tanks and six Frue vanners, each handling, successively, a finer grade of elimes. That which passes from the last settling tank passes away as tailings and it is here the chief loss is made, especially when the ore is more than usually zinciferous and therefore lighter. As the loss, when there is not much zinc present, is less than 15 per cent not much effort is being made to treat the tailings. An additional Frue vanner may save some more of the values of a small cyanide plant may be installed, the method to be adopted depending upon future experiment.

By the method employed but a relatively small percentage of the ore is crushed to the smallest degree of fineness but as the loss from the jigs is very small it is apparent that this is a real gain. Fine crushing means more profit if all the ore were crushed to the fineness which is dealt with on the Frue vanners the mill would neither be effective nor economical. There are but four men employed in the mill, one sorting ore as it passes from the rock breaker to the mill, two in the mill itself, and one sacking ore. There is practically no handling from the time the ore leaves the face of the slope till it passes out of the immediate possession of the company.

The mill, at present, is only running one shift of 12 hours, but when the new compressor for machine drills is installed the output can be considerably increased.

MIDWAY & VERNON.

An Assured Fact That Work Will Be Resumed This Year.

It is now an assured fact that work on the Midway and Vernon railway will be resumed this year, says the New Denver Ledger. Information received in the city the past week leaves no doubt that the charter has been disposed of to either the C. P. R. or Great Northern. It is understood that all the arrangements for the transfer have been completed, and that the announcement of details of the deal will be made in a few days. For both the great railways competing for the nine tonnage of this district, the West Fork road should be a very desirable branch. This would be especially so in the case of the C. P. R., as the Midway and Vernon would not only furnish a large ore tonnage from the West Fork mines, but would give a direct route for the agricultural products of the Okanagan valley to the mining districts of the West Fork and the Boundary. It would also be a connecting link between the Columbia and Western and Shuswap and Okanagan railways, both controlled by the Canadian Pacific. The C. P. R. is building a boat to run on Okanagan lake which it is said will be the fastest craft on the river waters, and will make the round trip between Okanagan and Penticton daily.

To the Great Northern the Midway and Vernon should be a desirable branch, as it would give that road not only the tonnage of the West Fork, but an entrance into the Okanagan valley and its share of the tonnage to and from that large and prosperous district. Although the Midway and Vernon have been developed to any great extent, contain small bodies of high grade ore, there are large bodies of low grade ore equal in extent to any of the low grade properties in the Boundary. On Beaver creek several locations have been made on enormous bodies of low grade ore, one of which is a tonnage as large as the Mother Lode mine in Deadwood camp. About ten miles up Beaver creek, from Beaverdell there are some very large iron outcrops, one 75 feet in width. There are also a number of higher grade quartz ledges running from 6 to 30 feet in width. It is safe to say that the properties along the upper portion of the West Fork will be found to contain a tonnage as the mines of the Boundary.

BIG RAILWAY CONTRACTOR.

John McMullen of the A. G. & P. Co.
Visiting the Coast.

John McMullen of New York is a kind visitor to Vancouver, says the Advertiser of Wednesday. He is head of the Atlantic, Gulf & Pacific Company, which has headquarters in New York and branch establishments in many of the large American cities, in Panama and in Manila. One of its branches is the B. C. General Contract Company of this city, which is in the largest of its kind in America, and at present has about $20,000,000 worth of work to carry out.

Mr. McMullen is not unknown in Vancouver and has spent considerable of his time in renewing old acquaintances. In the days of the C. P. R. construction, when the late Mr. Oudrydon had contracts in the West, Mr. McMullen had contracts for and built all the large bridges on this end of the line in British Columbia.

Yesterday afternoon he went on a trip to the North Arm, being shown the river sights by G. H. Webster, who looks after the interests of the company in Vancouver and is engineer for it. This morning Mr. Webster and Mr. McMullen will leave for the East. They will proceed first to Golden, where the company is carrying out a contract for construction of several miles of the Kootenay Central Railway, and then on to Strathburg, Sask. There the company has a contract for the grading of about eighty miles of railway.

The crews will leave here about the 20th in order to get in shape for the races, which take place on July 27 and 28.

White Swan Soap is distinctly a home manufacture, and one too that British Columbians generally, particularly Victorians, have much cause to feel proud of, inasmuch as it has no superiors and but very few equals, as an article for general domestic use. In its time it had, no doubt, many adversaries and troubles of its own, all of which it has bravely risen above, and with an article to offer to the public as the result of struggle that will hold its own with anything of its kind in the world.

THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY.

TRADE MARK THERAPION MARK
This successful and highly popular remedy, used in the Continental Hospitals by Ricord, Rostan, Robert, Velpeau, and others, combines all the desiderata to be sought in a medicine of the kind, and surpasses everything hitherto employed.

THERAPION No. 1
In a remarkably short time, often a few days only, removes all the causes and consequences of every kind of urinary disease, such as catarrh of the bladder, and all the distressing consequences of the same, and restores the system to its normal condition.

THERAPION No. 2
For impurity of the blood, scurvy, pimples, spots, blotches, pains and swelling of the joints, rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, and all diseases for which it has been too much a fashion to employ mercury, arsenic, and iodine, to the destruction of sufferers' teeth and ruin of their health. This preparation purifies the whole system through the blood, and thoroughly eliminates all poisonous matter from the body.

THERAPION No. 3
For nervous exhaustion, impaired vitality, sleeplessness, and all the distressing consequences of the same, such as indigestion, residence in hot unhealthy climates, &c. It possesses surprising power in restoring strength and vigor to the debilitated.

THERAPION is sold by the principal Chemists and Merchants throughout the world. Price in England 3/6 & 4/6. In ordering, state which of the three remedies are required, and observe above Trade Mark, which is a fac-simile of word "THERAPION" as it appears on British Government Stamp (in white letters on a red ground) affixed to every package by order of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners, and without which it is a forgery. J. J. L. & Co., Ltd., London, W. Sole Importers for Canada, J. J. L. & Co., Ltd., Toronto, & J. J. L. & Co., Ltd., Vancouver and Victoria.

GOOD COFFEE IS HARMLESS

Says Mrs. S. T. Rorer, the eminent authority on cooking. The trouble has often been due to the faulty method of making, not just as often to the inferiority of the coffee. For this reason, we wish that you would try a pound of our "CROWN BRAND." Most of our patrons use it and will have no other.

If coffee does not agree with you, there is a reason, and we want to help you find it.

TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE

Fill the kettle with fresh, cold water, bring quickly to the boiling point; scald hot coffee pot, and while not, put in a rounded tablespoonful of good Crown Coffee to each pint of water; add the water and serve at once.

Crown Coffee made in this manner is entirely free of fixed oil, and very delicious. The price is 40c. per lb., and is the best you can have in the coffee line. Sold by all Grocers.

NOTES

The royal mail steamship Aorangi, Captain Phillips, which has been undergoing an overhauling for several months, returned yesterday from Australia, one day ahead of her schedule time. The steamer was filled to her capacity with passengers, a large number of whom are en route to England, while a large percentage are bound to points in Canada and the United States. The Canadian-Australian line is advertising an excursion to Canada by the steamer Maheno, the turbine liner, which leaves Sydney on Monday on her second voyage to this port. The Aorangi left Sydney on June 11, Brisbane June 14, Suva on the 19th, Honolulu on the 27th, and arrived here yesterday. The run from Cape Hatteras to William Head was made in three hours. From Brisbane to Suva the steamer encountered strong trade winds with a rough sea and clear weather; from Suva to Honolulu, moderate with trades and breeze; and from Honolulu to Victoria, moderate winds and sea with fine weather.

On July 1 at 4:30 p. m. the Aorangi passed the four-masted British bark Oranias of Liverpool, which wished to be reported, all well; and at 7 p. m. on July 3 the four-masted American schooner Willie G. Hutt of San Francisco was passed.

The Aorangi brought a valuable cargo, including a shipment of $1,500,000 (£300,000) for San Francisco. There was also part of a gold dredger used on New Zealand rivers, which is being shipped from the Antipodes to the Yukon district. The big screen of the dredger was lashed on the forward deck of the liner. Other shipments were: 100 cases Australian brandy, 17 packages machinery, 1 screen, 100 cases canned meats, 25 barrels coconuts, oil, 232 pieces Australian hardwood, 77 cases pelts, 164 hales wool, 1 barrel sausage casings, 7 hales skins, 481 bundles hides, 469 bales fur skins, 1207 ingots tin, 25 cases jam, 17 packages Kauri gum, 299 bales flax, 257 crates pineapple. The steamer landed here 115 cases of canned meats and 12 barrels of coconuts.

Included among the passengers were a number of naval officers. Captain F. C. Tudor of H. M. S. Challenger, Lieut. J. D. Rogers and Lieut. Skinner were among the party. Captain Stewart, Balmain, who went to Australia as A. D. C. to Lord Northcliffe and was married in Sydney to Miss Fairburn, was returning to England with his bride. Mr. D. E. Lindsay of the New Zealand postal service, came with the New Zealand mails. Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Morton of Melbourne arrived on a visit to Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. Proctor, Vancouver people, returned from a four months' visit to Australia.

From Suva the steamer brought news that Mr. Fordham, representing the British Columbia Sugar Refinery interests, had left the hospital and was recovering from the effects of a serious operation.

The Aorangi proceeded to Vancouver at 5 a. m.

COMMODITY RATES.

New Freight Arrangement on Northern Cargoes Now in Force.

From now until August the shipment of freight to Adlin, Whitehorse, Dawson and the Tanana country will be enormous, as the special commodity rates of the White Pass & Yukon route became effective on Sunday and will remain in force until the middle of next month.

The first sailings for Skagway on which cargoes took the special commodity rates occurred on Sunday, when the steamers Princess Beatrice and City of Seattle left for Skagway. Both vessels took all the freight they could load. Steamers from Seattle for Skagway are also taking large cargoes destined to Fairbanks.

PORT ANGELES EXCURSION.

Princess May Made Four Crowded Trips to the Land of the Free.

The steamer Princess May made four round trips to Port Angeles yesterday, carrying full complements of excursionists on every trip, about 2000 Victorians having voyaged across the straits to attend the Fourth of July celebration at Port Angeles. The Princess May left the ocean dock at 9 a. m. with a full complement of passengers, being crowded from end to end with excursionists. Special cars were run to accommodate the crowds hurrying to the ocean dock. At 2 p. m. the steamer made the second trip, and more people sought passage than the steamer could accommodate, and fully 2000 were left on the dock. The trip at 2 p. m. from the Belleville street wharf was also a crowded one. As all the passengers could not be accommodated on the return voyage at 10 p. m., arriving at 11:30, there being a large crowd left on the dock after the steamer pulled out, it was necessary to make another trip, leaving at midnight, and the belated excursionists were brought to the city in the early morning.

There was a gala day at Port Angeles. A programme of sports was carried out, and there was to have been a balloon ascension, but this was cancelled owing to high wind. The baseball match between the Fernwoods of this city and the Port Angeles nine resulted in a victory for the Port Angeles team by a score of 11 to 3. Local athletes were successful in many of the sports, and many of the prizes were brought to Victoria. On the return trips last night there was considerable mal de mer.

CAPTAIN VOSS APPOINTED.

Navigator of Tilikum Fame Will Have Charge of Lifeboat Crew.

Capt. J. C. Voss, who recently made application for the position of head of the life saving crew to man the lifeboat built at Vancouver for the department of marine and fisheries has been given the appointment, and will begin at once the selection of a crew subject to the ratification of the local agent of the department of marine and fisheries. Capt. Voss's experience at sea in all kinds of weather in small craft of less displacement than the new boat with air tight compartments at either end has well fitted him to take charge of the lifeboat crew. Capt. Voss was at the head of two daring ventures, in one of which he out-Slocummed Slocum. Seven years ago today Capt. Voss and a local newspaperman, Percy McLeod, with Capt. Maan of the sailing schooner Jessie, left Victoria in the little sloop Nora and voyaged to Coos Bay and Calhoun and thence returned to San Diego where they sold the craft. In May, 1901, Capt. Voss, with N. K. Luxton, set out on a more daring enterprise, no less a venture than to circumnavigate the world in a war-canoe. Capt. Voss bought an Indian canoe out from a cedar tree in 1801, fitted the craft with a deck and elegantly carved prow and stern, and in 35 yards of sails, and in this frail and tiny craft he navigated across the Pacific ocean in all weathers, from Victoria to Fiji and thence to Australia, making part of voyage without compass. After circumnavigating the coast of Australia he visited New Zealand, and then went across the Indian ocean to South Africa, cruised on the African coast, visited St. Helena and the Azores and navigated by way of the Atlantic to London. Since his return to Victoria he engaged again for a time in the hotel business, being lessee of the St. Francis until he recently sold his interests in that hotel. Training exercises will be commenced as soon as Capt. Voss elect a life-saving crew.

ADDRESS ACKNOWLEDGED.

Sir Henri Joly Replies to Victoria's Address of Farewell.

His Worship Mayor Morley has received the following self-explanatory letter from Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere, formerly Lieutenant-governor of British Columbia:

Pointe Platon, Que.,
Post Office.

To His Worship A. J. Morley, Mayor of Victoria.

Dear Sir:—When called from Ottawa to place the duties of Lieutenant-governor, the province of British Columbia, I could not foresee what a welcome task lay before me.

When you state in your farewell address, played by yourself, in the hall which consider as expressing the feelings not only of Victoria, but of the whole province, that you sincerely trust that the least pleasant of my home thoughts will be of the years spent in British Columbia you recall to my memory that when a man can never forget. You recall the v. faithful trust and confidence placed by the people of the province during these last six years in one, not chosen from among themselves, but sent to them from the far East, in one who came to them as a stranger, and who was accepted as a friend.

You bring to my memory the welcome I received when I arrived in your beautiful province, the interest taken in my work and business, the privilege which I enjoyed by sharing, not only your joys, but also your sorrows, and the sympathy and support I received which enabled me to hear the trials I pleased God to send me during my stay in your land.

I leave British Columbia full of hope, trusting above all things that its people will render justice to themselves and prove worthy of the exceptional advantages which Providence has so liberally placed in the v. ads.

HENRI JOLY DE LOTBINIERE.

CROUP ABSOLUTELY CURED.

"There is no remedy in my opinion that can act more promptly than Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed oil and opium. It cured my son of croup, absolutely, in one night. We gave him a dose when he was black in the face with choking. It gave him instant relief and cure."—Mr. Wm. McGee, 49 Wright Ave., Toronto, Ont.

PRESENTATION AT METHOSIN.

Popular School Teacher Recipient of a Mark of Appreciation.

Miss Mabel Godson, for four years the efficient and popular teacher of Methosin public school, has severed her connection with that institution and is seeking a change of work in another part of the island. The occasion was taken advantage of by Miss Godson's many friends among the young folks to whose pleasure she has so often ministered at their social gatherings at Methosin Public hall, to make her the recipient of a handsome suit case and the following address:

"Dear Miss Godson:—Four years ago you came among us a stranger, tonight we come here to show our friendship and our appreciation of your services in this district. By your high character, your quiet ways, your unfailing kindness and the interest you have taken in Methosin you have endeared yourself to us all. You have been our ready and willing helper in all our needs, and we deeply regret your decision to leave Methosin and all join in wishing you every success, happiness and prosperity in your future work."

The congregation of the church of St. Mary, the Blessed Virgin, Methosin, in saying farewell to their life organizer and faithful member made her the recipient of a gold cross and chain as a token of their love and respect. The presentation was made by the rector, Rev. W. Baugh Allen, a warm personal friend of Miss Godson's, wishing her God speed and all blessings for the future.

ENDLESS ANNOYANCE AND MISERY.

"As a man of seventy years I am grateful to God and to Dr. Chase's Ointment for a cure of piles which had caused me endless annoyance and much misery. The itching and burning was almost beyond endurance, but Dr. Chase's Ointment brought quick relief and I believe that the cure is lasting."—Rev. Wm. Thomas, Brownsville, Ont.

Hill vs. Hamley and Newell.—Mr. Barnard applied for an order fixing the date for the return of an originating summons, and the 17th instant was arranged.

MEN RULE BY FORCE, WOMEN BY CHARM.

And yet because they live less strenuously, women neglect the early evidence of falling vigor.

The wise woman will not permit her charms to be robbed by ill-health. When she feels appetite failing, nerves getting on edge, color fading, she takes Ferrozone. How it shows the appetite flow quickly rich blood is available to restore color to the cheeks, buoyancy to the step! Don't be delarded from strength and spirit. Don't give in to illness and do not let your vigorous supplies tone and vigor through which all functions of womanly life are maintained and fortified.

From New Richmond, Que., comes the following statement of M. J. Leduc, a 40-year-old man, who has been suffering from the powerful influence of Ferrozone. For years my daughter has been pale and sickly—showed signs of advanced consumption. I can certify Ferrozone made an excellent cure, and today my daughter's health is the best.

Mountain of misery can be saved by using Ferrozone promptly. 50c. per box at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., and Kingston, Ont.

AFTER 400 YEARS.

Magnificent Art Collection at Rome to Be Opened to Public.

Rome, July 4.—Art lovers will rejoice in the news just given out that they will soon be permitted to view one of the finest art collections ever formed. They will be astonished also to learn that the collection has never seen the light of day since Pope Leo X., that mighty patron of art and learning, put it together. It was some four hundred years ago. Since then the collection, known as the Sancta Sanctorum, has been shut away in the chapel of the Scala Sancta. It contains specimens of ecclesiastical vestments that go back to the very beginnings of the Christian church. There is goldsmiths' work wrought by the greatest mediæval masters of the craft. Illuminated manuscripts, ancient enamels, pictures by artists unknown to moderns, glorious things that were among the treasures of the old emperors—all are contained in the collection. Prof. Grisar, a Jesuit and a great archaeologist, has obtained permission to overhaul the collection, photograph it and write a book on it. When this work is completed the collection will be arranged for the public to view.

BLOOD, PURE, RICH, RED.

That's what makes health. It's what gives vital strength and enduring nerves.

Rosy glow in the face, sparkling eyes, glowing complexion are all the outcome of good blood supply.

And the converse is also true. Lack of blood tone means lack of those qualities that make life enjoyable.

So, sooner we exclude, purify and enrich the blood than to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. By the gentle action on the bowels, kidneys and liver, they filter every impurity from the system, leaving it whole and able to do the work necessary for the maintenance of health.

To be well, look well and feel always at your best, use Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Standard and Butterfield's truly wonderful medicine for young and old. Price 25 cents per box at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn.

BONI MARKED

DOWN TO

$ 8,000 !

Now Without a Sou, What Will He

Do with This Little Sop—and a Whole Army of Creditors with Their Hands Wide Open Greedy to Clutch Him?

His Awe Inspiring Chief of Lackeys—Gone.

Monsieur le Comte Boni de Castellane.

One of a Collection of Equipages Costing $150,000; Which Boni Can Hardly Keep Up on $8,000 a Year.

WHEN you have been accustomed to spending $2,017 a day on the average, to giving banquets at $200,000, to buying fur coats at $60,000 and to running up bills at the necktie shop of $12,000—

How does it feel to be reduced to just nothing?

That is the cruel situation in which Count Boni de Castellane finds himself.

He has not got a sou. In popular language he is "stone broke." A distinguished artist has painted him smoking his last cigar. The picture is by Garvey, and is exhibited in the last year's Salon. Boni is dining for the last time with the Countess de Castellane. Other persons seated at the table are the Marquis de Dion and the Duchess d'Uzes. Boni is turning his head, as the waiter assists him to light a long black cigar, the most costly the money can buy. In all probability he will never have a cigar like that again. At present he cannot really afford the 2-cent kind that is so popular in Paris. The picture in the Salon has been described by members of the French aristocracy as the most pathetic work of art ever painted.

Boni is so alarmed at the situation in which he finds himself that he has determined to resist his wife's suit for divorce to the utmost. He will not accept her offer of $8,000 a year and leave the suit undecided. The thought of living on $8,000 a year is insufferable to him. He has therefore decided to put it to the touch to win or lose it all. He will get control of the Countess's fortune or have nothing. The chivalry of France bids him fight. The blood of the Crusaders that flows in his veins is stirred to its depths.

Has Pawned His $1,500 Watch.

Boni is employing every trick of the law to prevent the Countess from obtaining the divorce to which she is apparently entitled. He has obtained the ablest counsel in France, and although he can pay them nothing, they are encouraged by the thought of the golden harvest that awaits them in case they win. If that happens the Count can compel his wife to live with him and share her income with him, which means that he will spend it all. He will keep all his palaces and have almost inexhaustible credit, for there will be a fortune of $18,000,000 behind him. She will not be able to run away from him, for he will have legal control of the children and she would never leave them.

The hope of winning is carrying Boni over this terrible period, when he has not a sou in his pocket. He has pawned his watch—a chronometer that originally cost his wife $1,500—but the proceeds of that have gone, and now he is storing his garments away one after another, at the Mont de Piete.

This is a crisis in the life of a nobleman who came to America with nothing and has since then spent more American money on purely personal extravagance than anybody in the world. Count Boni de Castellane came to America eleven years ago with nothing in his pocket and nothing in his head but the idea of marrying an American heiress. Mr. Raoul Duval, the vine merchant, financed Boni for some months, but the prospect of finding the heiress seemed hopeless. For a long time he lived in a cheap New York boarding house and walked about the corridors of the Waldorf in the evening in order to have opulent surroundings. Finally he decided to become "a wine pusher" at a small salary. At the last moment he was saved from the horrible fate of working. Mrs. Paron Stevens introduced him to the Goulds, and Miss Anna Gould, the youngest daughter of the late Jay Gould, accepted him. Boni was possessed of considerable personal attractions, whatever rude Americans may say to the contrary, and he was titled, the great-grandson of a marshal of France, the cousin of the Duc de Talleyrand-Perigord and of many other noble persons.

Before this Boni had never had a complete outfit of new clothes at one time. Now he had all he wanted. A month after his marriage he purchased a Russian sable coat for $11,000. Then he progressed to a coat lined with sea otter at $19,800. He also bought a pelisse lined with silver fur to wrap round his graceful neck at $9,000. Thenceforth he made steady progress.

His first notable entertainment was a fancy dress fete in the Jardin des Acacias in the Bois de Boulogne which he hired for the occasion. It was planned in imitation of an entertainment given by King Louis XIV. Boni was the king. He had 300 lackeys in historical costumes. It cost $100,000.

Then he began to build in Paris a palace that was a reproduction of the Grand

The Lavish Wife and Two of the Three Little Sons He Will Have to Give Up.

Boni gave a banquet to his political supporters that cost $125,000. He helped the cause of monarchy by beating in President Loubet's silk hat at the Auteuil race course.

His generosity knew no bounds and it was not confined to politicians, but included the better half of mankind. He would bring beautiful presents to his wife, for which she had to pay. Once it was a magnificent pearl and diamond necklace. When she found that it cost $100,000 and that at the outside it was only worth $50,000, she went to the jeweller. He convinced her that when he delivered the necklace it had eight rows of pearls and now it had only four. Who had got the other four?

He purchased objects of art daily for his palaces—a Sevres clock for $60,000, a tortoise shell wardrobe that had belonged to Louis XVI. for $280,000; the bed of Napoleon for $50,000; a ceiling by Tiepolo for $50,000; a Louis XIV. writing table and several other things of this period for $80,000, and so on.

$800,000 a Year Not Enough.

At last the day arrived when Boni had accumulated debts of millions and millions of dollars, and as he anticipated his income every year there was not the faintest prospect that he would ever turn back to pay the debts. His wife's income, $800,000 a year, was not enough for Boni. The principal of his wife's fortune was entirely beyond his reach, because Jay Gould had expressly provided that the estate should be held in trust by her brothers and sisters, and that her husband, whoever he might be, should have no control over her property. It seems as if the great financier had a prophetic sense that Boni was to happen. The creditors brought an action in New York in 1901, and as most of the expenditures had been authorized by the Countess they were ordered to be paid. Claims of $4,700,000 were allowed against the Castellanes.

Among the items in the bill were: Real estate for the palace in the Avenue de Malakoff and the new Charity Bazaar, $740,000; mortgages, $1,317,000; loans, notes, tradesmen's bills, $888,000; objects of art and bric-a-brac, $1,800,000.

It was arranged to cut down the income of the Castellanes from $800,000 to $200,000 a year and to devote the balance to the payment of the debts with interest at four per cent.

They returned to Paris, and Boni's extravagance at once became more insane than ever. On the supposition that the Gould fortune was behind him, he could obtain unlimited credit, and he spent more than ever. Spending money has become a distinct form of insanity with him. He gave a bear hunt for the Grand Duke Boris that cost $100,000, and he paid Mas-senet, the first composer in France, to write specially for the occasion music that was played while Boni killed the only bear. His later experiences with the electors of Castellane cost him $300,000. His debts are now at least as large as they were before, amounting to about $8,000,000 in all. At the same time his conduct to his wife became more and more shameless. Taking a leaf from his great model, Louis XIV., he now conducted his affairs in his own palace before his wife. He became immensely popular with many Parisian society ladies who were hard up. One fair vicomtesse said:

"Ah, ce cher Boni, he dined with me only once, and now he sends me a pearl necklace worth 100,000 francs."

The climax occurred this Winter when he entertained the King of Portugal at the most extravagant entertainment he has ever given. All the wine glasses used were exquisite creations of ancient art, and every time the King took a drink another glass was placed for him.

At the close of the dinner the Countess publicly snubbed the woman to whom Boni had been most conspicuously devoted, and immediately afterward she began her suit for divorce against him.

Thus we see the tragedy of a little gentleman who has spent more money on himself than any other man in the world, reduced to absolutely nothing a day.

Mrs. Sterling's Ways

Hot Water

No. XVI.

MRS. BROWN'S "Dietetic Department" took a new turn today. Not that most of us were surprised when she not only declined but denounced the tea which she had lauded, not three weeks ago, as "Tired Women's Sweet Restorer, Balm Tea." As I have already remarked, we knew the tannic acid stage must come in the natural course of her lectures.

"No tea for me, dear Mrs. Sterling," she murmured, a regretful glimmer in her eyes. "Against my will I am convinced that it is absolutely poisonous to one of my digestive idiosyncrasies. I have nothing to do with other people's principles and practice in this respect, although I shuddered, this morning, in listening to the professor's analysis of teas—even those for which we pay preposterous prices as the best and purest brands. We all know, of course, that green tea owes its color to Prussian blue, the base of which is prussic acid. But everybody does not suspect that tannic acid—a deadly poison—lurks in every cup, whatever may be the kind of tea used. After ten minutes' maceration" (Mrs. Martin smiled openly at the technical term) "the infusion is little better than diluted gallic acid."

"Good gracious!" cried Mrs. Martin, helping herself to a slice of lemon and another lump of sugar, abstractedly. "How horribly and delightfully interesting! Do go on! It is such a comfort to know just what one drinks! And what does the diabolical stuff do after we swallow three or four cups of it?"

Mrs. Brown was made up without one ray of humor. She replied, promptly and gravely:

Tannin's Ill Effects

"Dilgalic acid is but another name for tannin. When taken into the human stomach it precipitates all starches and glutens (which is the best principle of bread, you know), all albuminous deposits (that is eggs), and if you have eaten jelly—sweet or aspic or meat jelly—it forms a most insoluble compound, almost like leather!"

"Good gracious!" ejaculated the fun-loving auditor anew—her eyes widened until her forehead was a gridiron of wrinkles. "You make me feel like a tannery! Yet it wouldn't be a bad idea to have a leather-lined stomach, when one comes to think of it!"

Mrs. Sterling interposed the usual buffer between ball and ball:

"But, my dear Mrs. Brown, sensible people who have read of the properties of foods—and beverages—do not let tea steep for ten minutes. They know that stewed, or overdone tea, is an astringent, and that it must carry on the tanning process you have described."

Professor Sidestep's disciple pointed a tragic finger at the cozy-covered teapot.

"That has stood there for fully eight minutes! It will be there for ten longer, until all the tea is drained from the leaves!"

"I beg your pardon," returned the thoroughbred, with a feet temper. "There is not a leaf in the pot! As soon as the boiling water had stood upon the herb five minutes—or less—the tea was drawn off into that

Hints for Forming a Home Library

By Mary E. Carter
Copyright, 1915, by A. S. Barnes & Co.

NOT every home can have a library well stocked with books of all sorts for reading or for reference. That is one of the luxuries that only the very rich can afford. But the library that comes into existence in that way is not the most enjoyable to its owner. In fact, the owner of that sort of a library is more likely to be a miser than a collector. His library would be a paradise to the student, a true lover of books, but to him it is just a portion of his palace furnished, like all the rest, to order, by an expert with publishers' catalogues as guides.

But there are many who have not been so happily circumstanced in their youthful days, and they often feel the lack without knowing the best way to fill or overcome it. They long to give to their children the advantages which never were theirs, or they desire, without a good education early in life, people are ever after handicapped, no matter how much money they may get for themselves or inherit from others.

After perfect health there is nothing, on the material plane, that makes children and grown people so independent, resourceful and happy as an intimate acquaintance with the best literature. As no one can read all the books worth reading at once so there is no harm in owning them all at once. But there are some books that every home should have and use constantly, and depend upon no outside library for them.

The Absolutely Necessary Books

Taking for granted, that every home as a matter of course will have at least one Bible and one copy of Shakespeare as part of its indispensable furniture, we pass on to the next most important book without which much reading will be bereft of advantage to the reader. What that book is, every one knows, not their meaning or only has a glimmering idea of their significance? What is the use of reading about places, and pictured on the mental gallery by finding them out on some map if not by seeing sketches of them? The unabridged dictionary and a complete atlas of the world are absolutely necessary in every household where the family is expected to read, and read, and read, as well as think, intelligently.

Children taught to use these and other reference books, with very little going to school, will be more thoroughly educated when they grow up than other children who have expensive schooling, but to training in looking up meanings, places and everything else that they come across in their reading which is not perfectly clear to them.

Also, on the list of desirable books is a classical dictionary. These three should be always accessible and faithfully used by parents and children alike, or, after you show a child how to look up anything, it should do that work of itself. The books ought to be kept in one place, on a table or stands, and no one allowed to lift them about from place to place. That is what damages heavy books. In other words, do not use but abuse wears them out too soon.

In this connection it may as well be said that children should be taught early, just as soon as they can handle books at all—the proper way to open and hold a book. All heavy books require special care. They should, when too heavy for the hands, be put on a table or a stand. No one should ever be allowed to lean upon an open book. These that can be handled without effort should be allowed to rest with their backs in the palm of the hand while one is glancing over them. This, of course, applies to books with nice bindings.

How to Hold a Book

I shall never forget my first lesson in holding a book. I was looking at a beautiful volume held open with both hands and enjoying its pictures—make-up—all unconscious that the owner was on tenter-hooks while watching me. After a moment he said gently, "Cousin, will you let me show you how to hold a book?" And then he placed it as I have described in the palm of his hand, thus fully supporting the two sides of the cover, and let it open without straining it in any part.

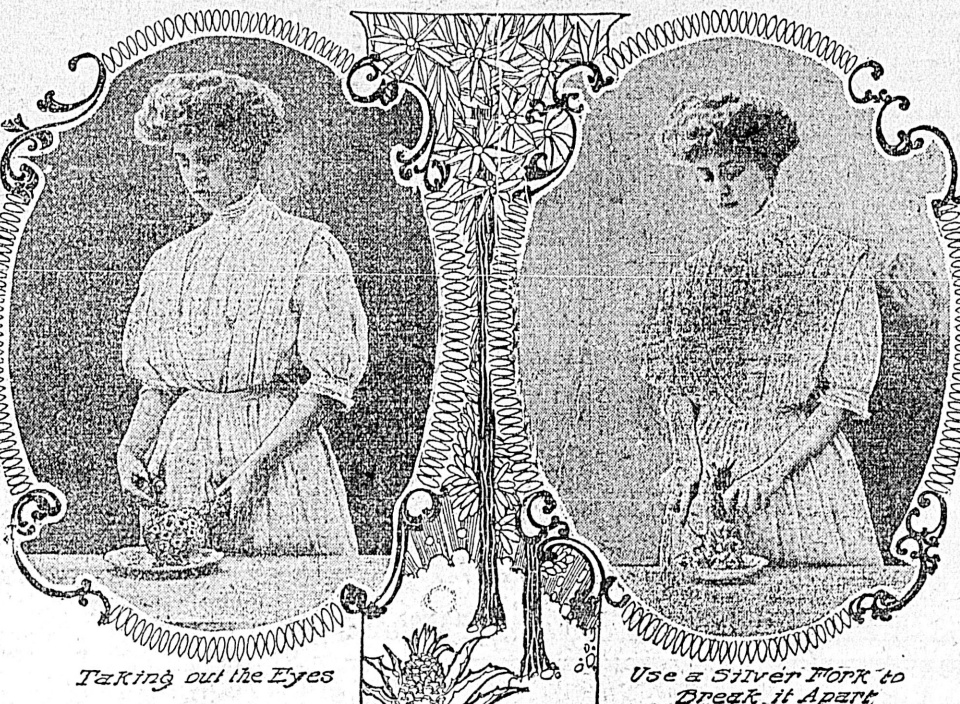

Any standard books of prose and poetry, that are of any value, are next in importance for the family at home. All the books that one wants to read can be found in the public libraries, but, when reading, these books of reference should be very easily reached, and that is why they ought to be the nucleus of the home library. They make a solid gift and have the advantage of growing in importance the more you refer to them. In this they differ from many things that are given as presents.

It is cruel to permit children to grow up without being acquainted with the other flowers that they meet in the garden that they are to go about. There are delightful books giving information about both in such a simple way that even a child can understand. They are about what they are and to what family in plant life they belong as easily as they can look up word-meanings in the dictionary. These books are produced from a tree will be the means of revealing the name of the tree when it is compared with its counterpart in the book, written by an arborist.

A Little Known Distinction

FEW know that grape fruit has almost as many aliases as a professional criminal. It is dubbed purple, green, white, yellow, and red. (It is the traditional cause of Adam's cowardice), and fruit of Paradise. We also call it, interchangeably, grape fruit or shaddock. Though most people are unaware of it, there is an absolute distinction between the two. The latter, the grape fruit, is a native of the Indies was brought to the United States by a Captain Shaddock, from whom it took its name. The fruit is pear-shaped, with a thick, green, waxy skin, and a flesh of a deep red color. It is a native of the Indies and is a very hardy fruit. # A MISUNDERSTOOD FRUIT

Taking out the Eyes

Use a Silver Fork to Break it Apart

INSTEAD of being the indigestible fruit which for so long they were believed to be, pineapples are winning name and fame for themselves as one of nature's numerous specifics for the very trouble they were supposed to cause—indigestion. It was Seneca, the philosopher, who first gave the fruit its bad name.

Then another discovery was made—an old story in the country of the pineapple, Africa, but, more recently, to this country—that it was of use in certain throat troubles, notably quinsy and tonsillitis, the fresh fruit, or its sweetened juice, or even the canned form, when the other was not available.

So good a medicine has it proved, in fact that it is ranked among drugs, both in powdered form and as a liqueur.

Serving the fruit as a dessert, after a heavy dinner, proves conclusively enough its value as a digestive; and, like all the natural remedies, it cures without causing some other trouble by way of reaction.

There are dozens of ways to serve it, perhaps, but of these we will mention the simplest of all—the picked pineapple.

Pineapple Trifle

Grate or chop a pineapple very fine, after peeling it and removing the "eyes." Soak a half-box of gelatine for an hour in a half cupful of cold water, then add a cupful of granulated sugar and a cupful of boiling water, and stir in the gelatine. As the mixture cools add the pineapple; set the bowl containing it in a vessel of cracked ice, and stir until the mixture is thickened. Now beat in a pint of sweetened, whipped cream and turn into a mold wet with cold water. When formed, eat with powdered sugar and cream.

Pineapple Pudding

Peel and chop a pineapple and cover with granulated sugar. Let it stand in a dish for an hour; then drain the juice from the fruit, saving both. In the bottom of a buttered pudding dish

Pineapples and Berries in the Shell

The Housemothers' Exchange

WE MUST have onions for seasoning, and young onions are palatable and enjoyable. They should be peeled, and hands retain the odor thereof long after the work is done. We gladly attend upon counsel that may help us to abate the nuisance.

If "Faithful Follower," after peeling onions under water (in rubber gloves), will grind them in a meat chopper, she can extract the juice thus.

If only a small quantity is needed, success could be attained by using a lemon squeezer. That is easily cleaned by washing thoroughly, laying it in a warm oven and then drying it in the sun.

The odor will soon disappear. If a quantity is desired, chop or grind, then put through a strainer, and squeeze the juice in a colander with a weight of some kind to press the juice out. Set the colander over a small bowl, and let it drain out the juice; then put in a can or bottle for use. If kept in a cool place, it will keep for some time. This, of course, is a little salt over the onions before straining.

Mrs. J. S. S. (Sterling, Ill.).

A Good Washing Fluid

If you wish you may insert in your valuable column, the following recipe for a washing fluid, which I have found to be splendid for saving labor. It will not injure the finest clothes.

Dissolve in two gallons of boiling water one can of potash or lye, powdered borax and ammonia (4 cents' worth of each). When cool, put into jug. To a boiler of cold water add one-half can of soda ash, one can of potash, and one can of soda. Dampen soiled clothes, and on soiled spots rub with the mixture. It will not hurt the clothes, and it will save a great deal of scrubbing. It will not hurt the clothes, and it will save a great deal of scrubbing. It will not hurt the clothes, and it will save a great deal of scrubbing.

My Way of Making Soap

If "Busy Bee" will try my way of making soap, I think she will succeed, for I have used it for years, and it has always been successful. I have not purchased any laundry soap for twelve years.

To the one quart of water, add one quart of lye, and one quart of soda. Stir with a stick until it is cooling. Dissolve two table-spoonsful of powdered borax in half a cup of water. Have ready five pounds and three ounces of tallow, and three ounces of lard. When the lye is cooled, stir into the warm grease and mix the two. Before it hardens, add the borax solution, and stir twenty minutes. Line a dripping pan with thick brown paper, grease it and pour the soap into it. When it is hard, cut into the shape of the bars you wish; let it stand in the pan until firm. Take out and put away.

If these directions are followed, you will have hard white soap that will float.

Mrs. J.

The Little Sorrows and Trials

To her who sits her table on a week and who could be happy and contented as long as people do not bother her for the little annoyances of life, I would suggest that she adopt my plan—assume a statuette posture, and sit down to the table. The little annoyances of life have passed out of range. To the member who is not able to stand, one more morbidly sensitive than to know that every move and sound is watched and ridiculed. We should rise above such petty things and forget them. We should not always be able to do this. When things have assumed vast proportions we can rise above them and smile them, or, at least, make the attempt. It is, perhaps, the little sorrows and trials that are most wearing, the little annoyances that make deepest the little faults that are always remembered and which, like a bad habit, are never able to get rid of them all our lives.

A Rag of Woolen Scraps

Could any housemother inform me how to make a rag out of all-wool tailor samples—size of samples five by three and a half inches? They are in dark and light colors.

Mrs. W. N. (Glasgow, Pa.).

Oh, Don't You Know?

1. That ivory carvings that have become discolored may be restored by a very simple process? Palm-olive oil, mixed with turpentine, and expose them to the sunshine for two or three days.

2. That a piece of blotting paper, from a denim or cretonne pillow cover and pillow ticks, where soap and water cannot be used, make a perfect cover for a lamp, and a small one for a canary, a good cleaning once a week is enough, and a good rubbing with dry flannel will do much to keep it bright between times.

LAVENDER (Chicago).

To Clean White Albatross

1. Somebody asked how to clean a white albatross dress. A friend of mine who had a very pretty one put it into the washbasin whenever it became soiled, and after rubbing it with soap and water, she found it was self-trimmed, or with lace or removable trimmings, such treatment might not be necessary.

Relieve It, although you may not at ways feel it.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE "GLORIOUS TWELFTH"

Expected That Very Large Number of Visitors Will Be in the City.

On July 12 this city will be visited by several large excursions, arranged for the occasion of the annual grand lodge meeting of the Loyal Orange order. Victoria has been chosen for the chief session, but other smaller sessions will be held in the province.

A large crowd of delegates, probably amounting to a thousand, will come down from Nanaimo. A special train will be run solely for the visitors, leaving Nanaimo at 7 o'clock in the morning, and arriving at the Store street station at 10 o'clock. On arrival the delegates will be received by a deputation from the Victoria lodge, and as the Nanaimo contingent is to be accompanied by the city band, a procession will be formed and will march up to the Loyal Orange Lodge rooms.

A still larger excursion has been arranged from Vancouver. The steamer Charnier has been chartered and already it is practically certain that she will carry her full complement. The C. P. R. are facilitating matters by allowing representatives to take the ordinary daily steamer at the low excursion rates, and those taking advantage of this offer will be allowed to return by the Princess Victoria at the same rate. The Vancouver lodge will be accompanied by a band and probably by a pipe and drum band.

Arrangements for the day's business and enjoyment are already well in hand by the local committee, and no hitch is likely to happen. All the visitors will be met by local enthusiasts and escorted to the lodge rooms. It is the intention of the committee to make this year's celebration of the Boyne water battle and King William of Orange's honor the best meeting ever held, and from all accounts their efforts are to be realized. The following grand lodge officers are all expected to be present on the 12th: Grand Master J. Wallace of William Head; Vice Grand Master D. C. MacLaren of Kamloops; and H. G. Taylor of Vancouver; Rev. M. Smith of Vancouver, chaplain; O. Bush of Mission, secretary; and Dr. Jeffs of Vancouver, secretary.

Experience is the best teacher. Housekeepers, who have tried them all, say WINDSOR TABLE SALT is the perfect table salt.

After all the visitors have assembled at the lodge rooms, they will disperse for a short time, and at 2 o'clock a procession of all attending will leave the A. C. U. W. Hall. The route for the parade is down Yates street, turning along Government street and proceeding to Beacon Hill, where several addresses will be made. An attractive baseball match has been arranged for the afternoon between Nanaimo and the Victoria Fernwoods. The afternoon programme has been considerably shortened on account of the scarcity of time, but opportunity will be given the delegates to visit the principal points of interest in and around the city. In the evening the visitors have been invited to the Gorge park, where the Fifth Regiment band will deliver a first class concert. The park will be illuminated after the same style as for the Masons, and no doubt will exhibit to the visitors the scenic beauties of Victoria.

Both the special train and steamer will leave Victoria late in the evening.

Mr. McPherson Coming.—E. J. Coyle, assistant general passenger agent of the C. P. R., left on Sunday morning last for Banff, where he will meet Mr. J. E. McPherson, general passenger agent of the Western lines of the C. P. R. The two railroad officials will spend a few days in the interior, after which they will come through to the coast, and likely visiting Victoria about the first of next week.

Local News

Plenit at Shawnigan.—The trustees of the Shawnigan Lake school will hold a plenit on the last Saturday in July. Boat, swimming and foot races will be on the programme, as well as a greasy pole competition. Sports will be provided for both old and young, and arrangements have been made by Mrs. Keenig of the hotel for suitable entertainment.

New C. P. R. Pamphlet.—A most interesting pamphlet on "Southern British Columbia," containing descriptive articles on the Kootenay, Boundary and Okanagan districts, and Vancouver Island. The varied industries of the province are typified in a special cover design, executed by Miss L. L. Clarke, of this city. The pamphlet was printed in the Colonist job rooms, the cuts being supplied by the B. C. Photo Engraving company.

Salmon Run.—Black fish are now reported to be running freely down the straits, indicating that the salmon run is close at hand. Yesterday morning the tug Vulcan came in from the B. C. Packers' association fish traps at Sooke, where there were 4,000 salmon in the traps according to the estimate of the watchman. The traps were not lifted owing to unfavorable weather. From a trap at Sherringham Point on Tuesday 2,000 salmon were received on a scow for delivery at the mild curing establishment.

B. C. Salmon Libeled.—It appears that some maliciously inclined person circulated the rumor in the old country that British Columbia salmon was impure. An Associated Press despatch from Liverpool, dated yesterday, says: "The chamber of commerce has investigated the report that a human finger had been found in a tin of preserved salmon. The story was found to be a hoax and it is declared that British Columbia salmon has always been found pure."

Anderson—Johnson.—The wedding has just occurred at Vancouver of James Anderson of Salt Spring Island and Mildred Johnson. The ceremony took place at the residence of Mrs. George Henderson and Rev. E. Tolson was the officiating clergyman. The ceremony was solemnized in the presence of a few friends, the bride and groom, a sister of the bride, while Mr. William Anderson acted as best man. After the happy pair and the guests indulged in a delightful supper, at which the bride and bridegroom received many congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left on the S.S. Charnier for their future home at Ganges Harbor, Salt Spring Island.

Indian Delegation.—On Tuesday the British Columbia Indian delegation to England left Vancouver and were given an official "send-off." Chief Joe Capilano and Chief Charlie, of Cowichan, are the representatives of the Coast Indians who are bound to personally interview the great White Chief of the Empire. They are accompanied by August, an Indian of the Cominham River, who will act as interpreter. They will be away two or three months, and will spend two weeks in London. A number of matters affecting the Indians will be laid before the King. While departure was made from Vancouver, with hands playing and crowds cheering, the through journey will not be started for a few days. A stop-over will be made at Kamloops, where a grand pow-wow will be held, and where other Indian chiefs will join the party.

C. P. R. Freight Rates.—At a meeting of the Vancouver board of trade held in Tuesday evening Mr. McMillan brought up the question of C. P. R. freight rates. He knew it was a delicate subject, but there had been a great deal of discussion upon it, and as yet they had received no answer from the railway commission. Mr. Ramsey said that at a former meeting when Mr. McMillan was absent, the president had been deputed to consult Mr. Martin as to the best manner to approach the railway commission on the subject. Mr. McMillan said he had rung up Mr. Martin to consult him about the matter, but he was absent at the time, and he had not taken it up since. He had little faith that they could do much in forcing the commission. He would ask Mr. Martin again, however, and no doubt his answer would be published in the press so that all would be apprised of it.

Assay Office Tariff.—On a memorandum issued by the minister of the interior several changes have been made in the regulations governing deposits of gold and charges thereon in the Dominion assay office. The third regulation is that "the gold on which royalty has been paid must be accompanied by a certificate from the controller of the Yukon Territory at Dawson, that the royalty at the rate prescribed by the regulations, which sets forth the charges, is as follows: "On gold on which royalty has been paid: First charge, assaying, 18 of one per cent, on the gross value of the gold and silver contained in the deposit; second charge, parting and refining charge, 4c per ounce on the weight after melt; third charge, toughening the alloy charge, 2c per ounce on 1-11 of the standard weight of gold contained in the deposit." On gold on which no royalty has been paid, an additional charge of one dollar is to be exacted.

Commercial Mission.—The secretary of the board of trade received a letter from the secretary of the London chamber of commerce as follows: "I am directed to inform you that the council of this chamber, at its last meeting, confirmed, on the motion of General J. W. Wimburn Laurie, a resolution which had previously been carried unanimously at a special meeting of the London trading section of this chamber, in the following terms: "That the members of the Canadian trade section of the London chamber of commerce desire to express their gratification at the appointment by the board of trade of Mr. James Greig as a commercial commissioner to visit and report upon the possibilities of increased trade between the Dominion of Canada and the United Kingdom, which it is believed will result in mutual benefit to British and Canadian industry, and they recommend to the council of the chamber that letters be despatched to the Canadian boards of trade and chambers of commerce, recommending these bodies to send Mr. Greig as their representative in their power." I am to express the hope that your chamber will afford every facility in its power to Mr. Greig in connection with the object of his mission, in which great interest is taken by the council of this chamber."

A meeting of the residents and property owners of the above municipality will be held at the Foul Bay Road School House on Friday next, the 6th inst., at 8 p.m. It is hoped that as large a number as possible will attend.

The Winnipeg Exhibit.—A great number of people in the prairie provinces interested in British Columbia, as evidenced by the recent influx of home-seekers from the Northwest to make their homes in Victoria, have caused the provincial government to arrange for an even better exhibit than previously at Winnipeg and other fairs. The matter is in charge of R. M. Palmer of the provincial bureau of information, who will personally superintend installation, and accompanied by a competent assistant, will remain at each show until its conclusion. Details are practically completed for the fairs at Winnipeg, Brandon and Regina, and space has been applied for at Moosejaw and other smaller places.
